New Basis To Provide Jobs Is Considered

Province May Give Lump Sum Grants to Municipal Works Projects; Government Discussing Arrangements With Civic Heads

A new system of work projects to replace direct relief for unemployment was discussed this morning by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, and a Vancouver civic delegation.

The meeting was a preliminary to a conference with the government to-morrow morning of the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities on the subject of increased relief assistance arising out of the extra grant given by the federal government.

Mr. Pearson said proposals were considered by which the province would give lump sum grants toward municipal works projects on the understanding that the municipality would take so many men off relief and employ them at so many days a month and at a rate of wages agreed upon between the province and the municipality.

"In making our new relief arrangements," said the minister, "we also desire to make some progress."

While Mr. Pearson did not indicate how much more of the municipal relief burden the provincial government would accept, he stated a large slice of the extra grant from Ottawa, amounting to $112,500 a month would be passed on to them.

This and the new work proposals will be discussed with the executive of the union to-morrow.

It was indicated this will be a co-operative effort between the provincial and municipal authorities to tackle the unemployment situation on a joint basis, aimed directly at removing as many employable persons from relief lists as possible.

EAT OFTEN, SAYS YALE PROFESSOR

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 9.—To win fame and fortune in business, says Prof. Howard W. Haggard of Yale University, eat five or six times a day instead of two or three.

He explained tests show workers are more efficient the first three hours after eating.

FEVER CASES AT OAKALLA MILD

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 19.—Twelve inmates of the Oakalla prison farm were confined to the institution's isolation ward to-day in what prison authorities described as a "mild outbreak" of scarlet fever.

Seven men were put in the isolation ward yesterday and five more joined them to-day.

Manslaughter Charge Laid

Duncan Truck Driver in Court After Death of R. R. Ryley in Collision

George Evans of Duncan, driver of the car which struck the motorcycle on which Private Roland Robert Ryley, nineteen, was a passenger at the corner of Lyall and Fraser Streets last Tuesday afternoon, was charged with manslaughter by the Esquimalt police this morning.

Evans appeared in Esquimalt police court this afternoon with H. W. Davey as counsel and was remanded.

At the coroner's inquest in McCall Brothers' Funeral Home this morning a verdict of accidental death was returned with a rider "that no motor vehicle should be loaded in such a way as to obstruct or obscure the view of the driver."

Private James Worswick, driver of the motorcycle, testified that he was proceeding along Lyall Street at about twenty-five miles an hour. He was about sixty feet from the intersection when he saw the truck, which was entering Lyall Street. He had not seen it before because a house on the corner obscured the view.

The truck, he said, did not stop at the stop sign on the corner. He estimated it was traveling about twenty miles per hour.

Worswick said he applied his brakes, but was unable to stop in time, and attempted to turn in the same direction as the truck. His machine slid broadside into the truck.

ON OCCASIONAL SEAT

Worswick said he was riding on an occasional seat hinged to the forward end of the regular saddle. Ryley was seated in the saddle itself.

After the impact he was thrown to the roadway and when he got up, he saw Ryley lying in the road.

Esquimalt To Have Contest For Reeve

Alex. Lockley Will Be Opposed By Ratepayers' Nominee; Reeve R. W. Mayhew and Veteran Councillors Retiring in Oak Bay

As nomination day for the elections in the three municipalities surrounding Victoria draws near interest in the campaigns is livening up a little.

To date it appears the only contest for reeveship will be in Esquimalt where the present incumbent, Alex Lockley, will seek re-election. He will be opposed by a nominee of the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association. The ratepayers will announce their candidate to-morrow.

It was unofficially learned the association proposed to sponsor former reeve, James Elrick. When asked to-day if he would stand under the association's colors Mr. Elrick would not commit himself but said he would consider, if he was nominated.

VETERANS RETIRING

The retirement of Reeve Robert W. Mayhew and two veteran members of the council, W. H. Mearns and T. J. Goodlake, has been announced in Oak Bay. J. V. Johnson is the other retiring member. He will seek re-election. W. Len Woodhouse, retiring

JOHN GILBERT OF MOVIES DIES

Associated Press

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 9.—John Gilbert, great lover of the screen, died to-day at his home here from a heart attack. He was in his thirty-ninth year.

Death of the movie actor was revealed this morning when the fire department was called to his residence in an effort to revive him with an inhalator.

Mr. Gilbert was taken ill only a few days ago. When his condition became alarming this morning his trained nurse summoned his physician, Dr. Leo Madsen. Shortly afterwards the actor was dead.

BORN IN UTAH

Mr. Gilbert, whose real name was John Pringle, was four times married, and for many years was one of the most romantic figures in the movies. He was born in Logan, Utah, July 10, 1897.

WHERE BLAST WRECKED TENEMENT

Shattered by a terrific explosion that was felt over a large area of Buffalo, N.Y., a four-story tenement was left a twisted heap of smoking wreckage with only a few sections of wall standing as firemen hunted through debris for victims. Five persons were killed and several injured. The explosion hurled pieces of furniture nearly a block. Police believe a man looking with a lighted candle for a gas leak may have caused the blast, the results of which are made plain by the above picture.

Naval Conference In London Reaches Crisis

Friday Session Postponed Until Monday When Japanese Demand Question of Fleet Equality Be Discussed Before Any Other Subject

Associated Press

London, Jan. 9.—The International Naval Conference suddenly postponed its scheduled Friday session until Monday after the Japanese, in a private meeting with British delegates to-night, had demanded that the question of fleet equality be taken up immediately.

The United States delegates, the French and the Italians will be asked to-morrow to indicate whether they will agree to revert to a discussion of Japanese demands for parity on the high seas.

The British delegates, who threw the empire's best diplomacy into the breach to-day in a final effort to save the international conference from collapse, said they were unable to state what would happen if the other delegations should again turn the Japanese down.

The conference has been considering British, French and Italian proposals for exchange of information on naval programmes.

EDEN'S EFFORT

Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Britain's new Foreign Secretary, stepped into the issue personally this afternoon. Fearful the flat Japanese refusal to discuss anything but total tonnage limitation might cause an immediate wrecking of the conference and end all naval limitations, Rt. Hon. Mr.

ARCHBISHOP SERIOUSLY ILL

Most Rev. T. O'Donnell of Halifax, Formerly of Victoria, in Critical State

Canadian Press

Halifax, Jan. 9. — Most Rev. Thomas O'Donnell, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Halifax, was seriously ill here to-day and the prayers of the laity of the archdiocese were sought for his safe recovery.

Archbishop O'Donnell became ill suddenly last night. Earlier in the evening he had apparently been in good health, talking with members of St. Mary's cathedral congregation.

The archbishop came here five and one-half years ago from Victoria, B.C., where he had been bishop. Appointed Coadjutor Bishop to Archbishop McCarthy of Halifax, he arrived here July 17, 1930.

On the death of Archbishop McCarthy the following January, he became head of the archdiocese, which embraces the Maritime Provinces.

Archbishop O'Donnell came to Victoria to succeed Rt. Rev. Alexander Macdonald as Bishop of Victoria. He was a resident of the city for several years and his place was taken by Bishop Gerald Murray, who is now Bishop of Saskatoon.

Year's Rainfall Drops At Continent's Wettest Spot

Henderson Lake, situated on the west coast of Vancouver Island, wettest spot on North America and possibly South America, was rather disappointing in 1935.

After starting the year with the enormous precipitation of seventy-two inches in January, the month of the coast floods, the famous wet spot slacked off the same as other island points during the unusually dry summer. It ended the year with a total precipitation of 260 inches, with a bang-up finish of fifty inches in December.

The amount of rain which fell at Henderson Lake in January, 1935, is almost as much as has fallen in Victoria in the last three years.

The 260-inch precipitation was a big drop from the 1934 fall which was 314 inches and is a few inches below the average at Henderson Lake over a period of several years.

Ethiopians Retake Tembien Region

By ALBERT W. WILSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Addis Ababa, Jan. 9.—The Ethiopian government to-day announced abandonment of the Tembien region of the northern front by the invading Italian army.

Simultaneously, reports from travelers said many roads between Makale, forward point of the Fascist northern front, Addis Ababa and Debra Tabor, a principal city west of the northern lines, were washed out in many places by heavy rains.

Government sources had already claimed the Italians quit all their posts in the mountainous Tembien sector, just west of the northern front, a fortnight ago.

Addis Ababa, Jan. 9 (Associated Press).—Well-informed sources to-day said the Ethiopian Government had received reports that a large scale Italian advance was frustrated in the Dolo region after an engagement involving nearly 100,000 troops.

REPORT FROM RAS DESTA

These sources said Ras Desta Demtu, Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law who is commanding the Ethiopian armies of the south, had telegraphed the government a new Italian attempt to invade the great African rift valley from Dolo westward to Sidamo province had been frustrated.

Sixty thousand Ethiopians defeated 18,000 Italians and 25,000 Somalis in the Dolo region, the report stated.

ITALY TROOPS NEAR FRANCE

Now Known at Least One Regiment Stationed Not Far From Border

Associated Press

Rome, Jan. 9.—Premier Mussolini's million-man army was shown to-day to be at full strength by the results of the widespread flag ceremonies during the sixty-third birthday anniversary yesterday of the "war-time queen," Elena.

A dispatch from Asti, in the far northwestern corner of Italy, circulated by the officially Stefani Agency, reported presentation of one flag even to a regiment of the Assietta division, in that neighborhood close to the Italo-French frontier.

Informed sources disclosed the original Assietta division, like many others, had been sent to Africa, where Italy is engaged in warfare with Ethiopia, but had been replaced by a new division bearing the same name.

SENT TO LIBYA

The original Assietta division went to Libya, Italy's north African possession bordering on Egypt, where the garrison has been reinforced amid tension with Britain, arising from application of League of Nations war penalties against Italy.

Authoritative sources insisted the presence of the Assietta and several other divisions back of the French

Roads Broken Up As Rains Continue

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 9.—The war is not going well for Italy.

Dispatches from Ethiopia report that rains are almost everywhere churning up roads and creating new and unexpected difficulties for the invaders.

From Germany, the Austrian Tyrol and Jugoslavia come stories of the flight of Italian conscripts across the frontier.

The Berlin correspondent of The London Evening Standard learns "on unimpeachable authority" that two internment camps sheltering more than 1,000 Italian deserters have been established during the last month in the Bavarian mountains.

EXPERTS' TONE CHANGES

Major Sheppard, The Evening Standard's military correspondent, comments: "That the Italians are becoming seriously disturbed about the course of events is shown by the change in tone of expert military comment in Rome. All that the most optimisite of these comments new venture to forecast is a new and strictly limited offensive in the north before the end of the campaign season.

ITALIAN MORALE

"Meanwhile," asserts Major Sheppard, "there are indications that all is not well with the Italian morale either in the theatre of war or among the new reinforcements.

"This, if true, is a matter of the utmost seriousness."

Vickers Declare Agreements Bear Closest Scrutiny

British Munitions Inquiry Commission Is Told London Knew of Arrangement With Electric Boat Co. of United States

Associated Press

London, Jan. 9.—Commander Sir Charles Craven, managing director of Vickers-Armstrong Ltd., told the British arms investigating commission to-day there was nothing in the correspondence or agreement between his company, the Electric Boat Company of America and its predecessor, the Holland Boat Company, "which would not bear the closest investigation."

Special importance has been attached to a letter, disclosed by the United States Senate munitions committee at Washington, which allegedly was written by Sir Charles to the Electric Boat Company. It said: "My friend at the Admiralty will help us."

Sir Charles said to-day the Vickers agreement with the Holland Boat Company, and later with the Electric Boat Company, located at New London, Conn., began in 1900. Later Vickers built a number of submarines for the British government, paying a 3 per cent royalty to the United States company.

EDEN IS TO SPEAK JAN. 17

Associated Press

London, Jan. 9. — Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, will make his first speech on international affairs since ascending to the post when he addresses his constituents January 17, it was announced to-day.

That will be just prior to his departure for Geneva to attend the January 20 meeting of the League Council, which may make decisions on new sanctions against Italy.

Suggest Esplanade For Causeway Front

Would Overcome Harbor Odors and Further Beautiful Entrance to City; Council Delegation Discusses Matters With Federal Official

During a conference between J. P. Forde, district engineer of the Dominion Department of Public Works, and members of the City Council in the Empress Hotel last night a suggestion was made that an esplanade be constructed in front of the Causeway to further beautify that section of the city and also eliminate the odors that are present at low tide.

Mr. Forde was first asked if the government would dredge the harbor in front of the Causeway so as to prevent the vile-smelling mud from being exposed at low water. He questioned the advisability of dredging in front of the seawall and this lead to the suggestion that a large fill be made for a promenade.

It would be necessary to drive rows of steel or wood piles about ninety feet out from the Causeway wall across the harbor. Then a suction dredge would be brought here and part of

Campaign Now For Austrian Monarchy

Chancellor Schuschnigg Asking Little Entente to Agree to Restoration

Associated Press

Paris, Jan. 9. — Diplomatic sources reported to-night that Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria will seek the consent of the Little Entente to restoration of the Hapsburgs to the Austrian throne, with Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, present Vice-Chancellor, as Regent.

The Austrian Chancellor, these sources anticipated, will offer to swing his country's political policies away from Italy and Hungary when he meets Czechoslovakian officials in forthcoming conversations in Praha.

NEW CAMPAIGN

Associated Press

Vienna, Jan. 9. — Austria's monarchists swung into a fresh campaign to enthrone Archduke Otto to-day, encouraged by a declaration from Baron Friedrich von Wiesner that the Little Entente was weakening in its stand against restoration of the Hapsburgs.

Baron von Wiesner launched the new drive to elevate Otto to the throne his father, Emperor Charles, abdicated after the Great War, at an enthusiastic meeting of legitimists yesterday evening.

The Rome government watched closely French naval movements in the Mediterranean, to which that nation will send two squadrons, involving ninety-two warships, for manoeuvres while the British twenty-first destroyer flotilla and four units of the Home Fleet will hold a "spring cruise" in the Atlantic near Gibraltar.

The Italian government, however, remained officially silent.

Informed sources said Italy "could not view these reports with indifference, but would await developments before determining the need for counter measures."

evening, but there was no vertification to-day of the rumors, nor of reports that the Italian government was taking repressive measures.

The newspaper Suedtiroler Heimat said yesterday that 1,650 South Tyroleans had deserted the Italian army, with most of them making their way to Germany.

Councillor R. R. Taylor, who is completing three years as a member of the council, will stand for the reeveship and he will likely be unopposed. This will create a by-election for a term of one year on the council.

Councillor Mearns has been a member of the council for twelve years but finds it necessary now to retire.

Concillor Goodlake is another veteran who feels the time has come for his replacement on the council. He has served the municipality for ten and one half years.

TWO TRUSTEES OUT

On the Oak Bay School Board Trustees S. J. Drake, R. W. Murdoch and J. Vaughan Roberts retire this year. Trustees Drake and Murdoch will seek re-election. Trustee Roberts has intimated he will vacate. A candidate for this post is expected to be named shortly.

Present indications are that the chief centre of interest in the municipal polling will be Esquimalt, where already several candidates have been named for the various vacancies. The ratepayers' association is taking an active part in sponsoring candidates and to date a complete slate, with the exception of the reeveship aspirant, has been named.

The three retiring councillors, Thomas Hadfield, F. S. Going, and David A. Henry, will seek re-election. Clarence L. Pullen, F. Rees and Mrs. Agnes L. Harrison have been nominated by the ratepayers, while Captain W. J. Cox, a former councillor, will seek to re-enter municipal life.

The three vacancies on the school board will be contested by the three retiring members, Reeve Lockley, Major A. A. Warder and Mrs. Jessie McFarlane, while T. C. Jones and Mrs. E. Mitchell will fly the ratepapers' colors in this contest. The association's nominee for reeveship will also seek a school board seat with Mr. Jones and Mrs. Mitchell. George J. Cook, an unsuccessful aspirant in previous elections, will also stand for the school board.

Commissioner Sidney R. Bowden, whose term expires on the police board this year, will seek re-election and his only opponent so far is Charles Haithwaite, the choice of the ratepayers.

SAANICH IS QUIET

The contest for the school board is the only one which is attracting much interest in Saanich. The retiring trustees, W. P. Jeune, A. E. Hull and F. G. Aldous, have signified their intentions of running again, while Charles F. Hunt and G. S. Matthews will also be candidates.

Reeve Crouch is seeking re-election for his tenth term as head of the council and he will likely be returned to this post by acclamation.

There are prospects of only three contests for seats on the council. In Ward One, Fred Borden, present incumbent, will be opposed by John Watson, an unsuccessful candidate in Ward Two for the last two years.

In Ward Two, which usually stages a lively battle for the council seat, E. C. Warren is seeking re-election. No opponent has come forward yet but ex-councillor Dennis Hoare has initmated he will probably be in the field. Mr. Hoare may, however, seek a seat on the school board instead of the council.

STRAIGHT FIGHT LOOMS

Ward Seven, another active section of Saanich around election time, is quieter this year. Councillor G. S. Eden is seeking re-election and William B. White is his lone opponent at present. Mr. White was close to Mr. Eden in last year's polling.

Lewis W. Goddard, a member of the police commission for the last four years, will seek re-election and so far is the only candidate.

The remaining councillors, A. G. Lambrick, of Ward Three; W. R. Woods, of Ward Four; H. D. Cotton, of Ward Five, and L. C. Hagan, of Ward Six, have no opposition as yet.

New Basis to Provide Jobs Is Considered

They said the discussions with the minister were very amicable and as a result they had high hopes of replacing direct relief with works.

The question of government interpretation of the term indigents, for which municipalities must be responsible was raised.

Vancouver claimed that any man up to seventy years of age who was in good health should be classed as employable. The yardstick of indigency should not be based upon a man's ability to get work in the competitive labor market, they argued.

Dr. John Moore testified death was caused by the following injures: fracture pelvis, contusion of the right thigh, separation of the pelvis, ruptures of the liver and diaphragm, two fractured ribs, a punctured lung, and severe internal injuries, including abdominal hemorrhage.

H. W. V. Pecknold, chief of the Esquimalt police, said that he arrived at the scene at 12.15 o'clock and found the motorcycle in the ditch, smashed, Ryley was lying dead in the house of Hugh Kennedy, 502 Fraser Street.

The truck had continued to the house of George Bishop, 422 Fraser Street. The chief said he had given permission for it to be unloaded, but later asked that the lumber be replaced as nearly as possible in its original position.

PHOTOGRAPHS AND PLAN

The chief produced a photograph of the truck, showing that the lumber almost completely obscured the right hand window. He also showed pictures of the damage to the motorcycle and truck, and of the scene of the accident. A plan of the intersection was produced by H. F. Bourne, municipal engineer.

Robert Ryley, father of the deceased, identified the body.

Other witnesses were Messrs. Kennedy, Charles Green and Bishop, who had arrived on the scene of the accident following the crash. Their evidence indicated that the truck had stopped some few feet past the pavement of Lyall Street.

Coroner E. C. Hart, in summing up, pointed to the two factors most prominent in the evidence; that the truck had not stopped at the stop sign, and that the right hand window was obscured by the load of lumber. He suggested that the driver might have been unable to see the stop sign.

Major A. A Warder was foreman of the jury. Other jurors were Benjamin Jacklin, Arthur N. Smith, Gordon Pulmer, Joel Christensen and George March.

In the absence of any immediate danger, optimistic riverside inhabitants re-occupied their homes. Large areas of low-lying pasturelands are still under water, but the main body o fthe flood is believed to have reached the sea.

Eden invited the Japanese to the foreign office. There the discussion took place.

Authoritative sources conceded a strong possibility the Japanese would quit the conference or break up the negotiations by reiterating their position in such a manner as to make evident the futility of attempting to continue the conference.

Japanese correspondents with their delegation cabled to Tokio a possibility that Admiral Asami Nagano, chief Japanese delegate, and Matsuzo Nagai might sail for home aboard the Hakozaki Maru January 24 from London or January 31 from Marseilles.

JAPAN PRESS VIEWS

Tokio, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press from Haave).—United States insistence on the 5-5-3 naval ratio is strong evidence of a foolish "superiority complex," the Japanese press said to-day as the International Naval Conference at London appeared deadlocked.

Failure of the naval limitation cannot be easily shifted to Japanese shoulders by Great Britain and the United States, Tokio newspapers declared. The Japanese proposals still represent the only practical road to reduction of naval armaments and the maintenance of world peace, it was asserted.

The conference may be headed toward a fiasco, The Osahi Shimbun said, but Japan would be wrong to bolt it. Any effort toward co-operative agreement, however, blind and futile, should be encouraged, the newspaper added.

Morgan's Aid To Allies Explored

Washington, Jan. 9.—More evidence of close teamwork between J. P. Morgan and the British government while the United States was debating whether to enter the Great War was presented today to the Senate munitions committee.

Documents were introduced to show Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, then British Chancellor of the Exchequer and later Premier, intervened to place the Allies' vast American purchases almost exclusively in his hands.

Cablegrams by an agent of W. P. Bonbright and Company of New York, which sought a contract to make huge purchases in this country for France, also said the British Chancellor had induced the French to give the business to Morgan's Paris agency.

ARMS AND STEEL

Senate investigators said to-day J. P. Morgan and Company sent to the Allies 84 per cent of the arms and steel and steel implements they bought in the United States before this country entered the Great War.

The head of the House of Morgan puffed easily at his pipe as the third day of the Senate munitions committee's inquiry into war-time finance opened with presentation of figures to support this statement.

Robert W. Wohlforth, committee investigator, submitted a chart which said United States exports of arms to Europe jumped from $125,765,518 in three pre-war years to $2,187,318,050 in 1915, 1916 and 1917, an increase of 1,639 per cent.

The Morgan firm was said to have arranged $1,843,593,715 of this increased trade.

Members of the investigating committee contend American financial transactions with the Allies helped push this country into the war. Morgan and Company, which purchased $3,000,000,000 or goods for Allied countries in the United States and floated loans for them, argues German submarines and not international finance were responsible.

A tabulation of exports of additional war materials including brass, copper, smelter and zinc showed an increase from $166,000,000 in the three pre-war years to $1,202,000,000 in 1915-17, of which Morgan handled amounts ranging from 18 to 43 per cent.

Still Arrogant In Its Power Gangsterism Wrests Millions From Racket-ridden Metropolis

New York, Jan. 9.—The world and the laws change, but New York gangsterism pursues the even, evil tenor of its way, unchanging and apparently unchangable.

Sixty thousand so-called "habitual criminals" infest this metropolis of 10,000,000 souls and 25,000 policemen are paid to cope with them.

Major racket enterprises yield an annual harvest reckoned as high as a half billion dollars. The lion's share of this loot lines the pockets of perhaps 1,500 men in the big-shot gangs and the remainder goes to the jackals who prowl about the fringes.

Saloon era, prohibition era, repeal era—the transitions have affected gangland scarcely a whit. The gangsters continue to grow rich, to live briefly and dangerously, and to pass out violently.

The rackets are myriad. There seems to be no limit to the devilish ingenuity of the gorillas who prey on their fellow men with more ferocity than that with which one jungle denizen rends another.

NO BUSINESS IS SAFE

When the profits from the beer and alcohol rackets dwindled, the thugs merely turned their talents to other fields.

There was "Dutch" Schultz, for instance, one of the three outstanding leaders for a hectic period in New York's underworld. Owney Madden and Waxey Gordon were the other two.

"Dutch," as the daily press lately has heralded, is no longer interested in the quick profit system, having passed beyond the income tax collector's ken by way of some well-directed lead.

The unlamented Mr. Schultz, finding the beer business growing stale, reached into new fields and found them more profitable. He muscled in on the Harlem policy gangs, run by negroes and Puerto Ricans. Negro agents continued to circulate through the black belt, collecting small bets on numbers, but white bankers counted the take and the tally sheets went to Schultz.

HANDBOOKS PAY TOLL

Racing handbooks also paid their bit to "Dutch." He began to toy with "trade associations" and "unions." The small business men paid "dues" in fake organizations or suddenly and swiftly wished they had, as they recovered in hospitals. Their employees paid "union dues," or gunmen or sluggers visited swift reprisal on them.

In Brooklyn "protection" of laundries from acids and explosives is a fat source of income for thugs. They also play a philanthropic role by restoring stolen goods to merchants—for liberal rewards, after their own gangs first have stolen them.

Joe Arosa is the guiding genius in this area, doing the heavy work for "Little Augie" Pisano, a semi-retired veteran who prefers to dally with race horses.

RICHES IN "SHYLOCK" GAME

Another source of heavy income for the gangs in the tough Brooklyn sections of Brownsville and East New York has been the "Shylock" racket, merely a new label for usury, a practice as old as civilization.

The gang "bankers," however, gave it some refining modern touches. A workingman could get $5 in cash with no questions asked and no security. As long as he paid, with the interest rate at $1 a week, well and good.

If he did not, he was beaten. If he failed a second time, he was beaten harder, and so on until he paid, usually ten to fifty times over.

The three Shapiro brothers for a time controlled this racket, but they ended their careers in sacks dumped in vacant lots. They did not live to see the Shylock racket spread through the five boroughs and even into the ranks of the city's relief workers.

CABARETS MUST "COUGH UP"

The cabaret racket is another that yields tempting swag. Charles "Bugs" Siegal is rated the kingpin in this form of endeavor. His field of extortion is wide, hundreds of night clubs, dance halls, restaurants and shady hotels crossing his palm regularly with wads of bills.

The police will tell you that they do everything in their power to catch the gangsters and send them to the chair or to prison. But even to-day as they try to run down the gunmen guilty of the latest massacre, they learn by grapevine that the men who will profit most by the deaths of Schultz and his aides are planning to weld the top-line gangs into one powerful organization.

The men who should know say that an alliance already has been achieved, with the city's half dozen first-string gangs, of 200 to 300 men each, merged, so that a constant stream of tribute will pour into one central "treasury."

BIG SHOTS JOIN FORCES

Rumor says that the "Big Six," or "Supreme Council of Four," whichever it turns out to be, will include John Torrio, former Al Capone ally, now settled in Manhattan; Charles "Lucy" Luciano, high in the secret society Unione Siciliano, and Jacob "Gurrah" Sharpiro and Louis "Lepke" Buckhouse, veteran industrial racketeers, with possibly "Bugs" Siegal and Abe Zwilman, shadekdown specialists.

Out of a hundred gangsters, perhaps only two to a half dozen are disposed of by due process of law. Madden went away to Sing Sing for murder and came back to find his "business" in ruins. Gordon went to Atlanta for a little error in income tax matters. But the great majority die swiftly and violently at the hands of rivals or foes

But while the Schultzes and Ambergs and Shapiros are paying the inevitable penalty, new gangsters are growing up in the crowded tenement sections of the city.

Tough boys of fourteen to sixteen meet and rove in bands at night, fighting gangs from other blocks with fists and blackjacks and knives. They grow up to steal and kill, to reach out for the easy money they see the older toughs garnering, and pass on their way in one swift, bloody moment.

The faces change, but the ghastly play goes on and on.

the harbor bottom pumped in between the piles and the wall until the level was brought several feet above high water. After this material had settled either a board walk could be built or the whole front laid out in the form of a Venetian garden. Space could also be left for the conducting of band concerts and other forms of entertainment.

DISCUSS SEAPLANE BASE

The delegation from the council discussed other matters with Mr. Forde including the desire to have squatters along the waterfront removed, filling in of a low area near Erie Street, defining of the city limits of Victoria, foreshore rights and the reopening of the Outer Harbor of Victoria for seaplanes.

There is a contention that the city limits extends across Victoria Harbor from the old chemical works property to a point in Victoria West. If this is correct the city would have certain powers which have not been exercised in the past. This matter, it is hoped, will be cleared up.

The City Council is anxious to have the harbor reopened for seaplanes. Most of the opposition which led to the closing of the harbor is believed to have developed over a misunderstanding of the designation "Inner Harbor." It was felt when the decision was made that seaplanes would use the area inside Laurel Point and the floats in front of the Causeway and Parliament Buildings. The delegation made it clear that Victoria did not want to use that part of the harbor. It wanted the area west of Laurel Point, where the B. A. Paint Co. is situated, and the old chemical works. It was contended that there was plenty of water there for ships and planes.

Esquimalt Harbor was to far from the city, members of the delegation said, and there was a possibility of further developments in airplane services out of Victoria in the near future

The City Council has asked that the Central Harbor Commission, which is to visit Vancouver on January 13, come to Victoria and when Mr. Forde was in the city yesterday from New Westminster the council took the opportunity of discussing with him matters which would come before the commission.

Those who made up the city's delegation were: Mayor David Leeming, Alderman Walter Luney, Alderman Thomas Hawkins, Alderman Robert Dewar, Alderman Archie Wills, G. M. Irwin, city engineer, and D. K. Kennedy, building inspector.

LED THE WORLD

He explained: "At that time the American submarine undoubtedly was the best in the world, as it was in 1914, when the British government bought a number of these submarines which were built in America."

Sir Charles stated the Admiralty was "fully aware" of the agreement between Vickers and the United States company, which he described as "necessary in the interests of both companies."

He asserted there was the "closest possible co-operation between the two companies, but in no case was any secret information divulged by Vickers or the American company."

SAYS LONDON KNEW

"During the inquiry in Washington," Sir Charles continued, "Henry R. Carse, present president of the Electric Boat Company, is reported to have stated he believed the British government had no knowledge of this agreement.

"This evidence is not correct."

The Vickers executive then called attention to two paragraphs of a letter from the Admiralty to the Vickers company to prove his point.

QUESTION OF ASSISTANCE

At yesterday's session Sir Thomas Allen, a member of the commission, quoted Sir John Simon, former British Foreign Secretary, and now Home Secretary, as saying the Diplomatic Service had assisted British armament firms in obtaining orders from abroad.

He asked Sir Charles if he was still getting diplomatic aid. The munitions executive replied: "If we are not getting fair treatment we should, of course, make representations to the Foreign Office. I would not say that assistance has never been sought, but it would be rare."

At Tariff Board Inquiry in Ottawa Manufacturers Form Committee to Agree on What Machinery Is to Be Made in Dominion

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Manufacturers interested in or allied with the automobile industry will establish a committee to attempt to reach an agreement on what plant machinery and equipment may or should be made in Canada.

This move was suggested to-day by Chairman George H. Sedgewick of the Tariff Board when machinery manufacturers protested against proposals of motor manufacturers for lower duties or free entry on machinery used in making motor cars or motor car parts.

The parts manufacturers joined with the Ford Motor Company in Canada in asking free entry for machinery not made in Canada. Machinery manufacturers claimed there was scarcely any machine which could not be made in Canada, although they admitted there were some which could not now be made economically in Canada.

They favored a small revenue tariff on all machinery in order to encourage manufacture in this country of as much machinery as possible.

EARLY REPORT DESIRED

The proposal for a committee was endorsed by all three groups and it will be set up under the auspices of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Sedgewick said he would like a report from it in about a month.

B.C. SUGGESTION

C. H. O'Halloran, counsel for British Columbia, suggested the committee's study should extend to all machinery used in production, but the chairman said the board's preference was limited to matters bearing on the price of motor cars.

INFORMATION ON PRICES

Earlier at to-day's session motor manufacturers appearing before the board agreed to turn over to counsel for the provincial governments all confidential information filed with the board on costs of production and prices in Canada and the United States.

"I should like to state many General Motors dealers to-day would be glad if they were not General Motors dealers," said R. P. Sparks, counsel for the dealers' association. "They have all their capital tied up in the business, they can't make a profit and they can't get out."

TEXTILE INDUSTRY

Douglas Hallam, representing the Primary Textile Institute, read a brief objecting to special concessions to automobile manufacturers on textile imports as proposed by the Ford Company.

"We maintain upholstery and upholstering materials, and other textiles used by the automobile industry or their suppliers, should not be taken out of the textile tariff schedules and put into special purpose items for the benefit of any one particular industry in view of the universal use of textiles in practically all classes of manufactured goods," he said.

U.S. Currency Expansion Talk

Alabama Senator Suggests That Plan as Way Out of AAA Tangle

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 9.—Currency expansion was projected by Senator Bankhead, Alabama Democrat, as a means of boosting United States farm prices to-day as President Roosevelt conferred with legal, financial and agricultural aides on problems presented by the death of the AAA.

Mr. Bankhead, who assailed the Supreme Court's decision against the AAA as "astounding," told the Senate the administration has "another way" of getting "a fair price" for farmers.

"If it becomes necessary," he said, "the President can protect farm prices by increasing the currency. He has the power and I think he should exercise it to issue currency against all the silver owned by the government and against the gold now lying sterile in the treasury."

AAA debate broke out in the Senate.

LAND SCHEME

Senator Carey, Wyoming Republican, introduced a farm bill authorising a $250,000,000 appropriation for the purchase and lease of not to exceed 50,000,000 acres of sub-marginal land which has been planted to cotton, wheat, corn or other cereals for at least five years prior to purchase or lease.

It provides that no land leased or purchased could be planted to grain crops.

There was no inkling at the White House of what action the President contemplated.

DOLLAR'S POSITION

Rumors abroad that further dollar devaluation might be included in the new agricultural programme brought no comment at the White House. But on this same subject, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau told newsmen:

"I would not worry too much about rumors right now, especially if they originate outside the United States."

His parents were both stage players. One of his first jobs in pictures was a cowboy extra in a William S. Hart film.

Mr. Gilbert was divorced the fourth time last May, when Virginia Bruce, formerly of the Follies, got a decree after they had been married a year and eight months. She was awarded the custody of their nine months' old baby, Susan Ann Gilbert.

ROMANCES BRIEF

The real life romances of Gilbert were rather brief.

He was an extra when in March, 1917, he heard his first marriage ceremony, the bride being Olivia Burwell, a Mississippi girl. But work was hard to get, and money scarce. A divorce result in 1922. The next spring, in March, 1923, the actor, who by that time had won attention as a screen lover, married Leatrice Joy, of the films. To them a daughter was born, and then came a divorce in August, 1924.

For four years Hollywood gossip frequently linked Gilbert's name with romances, and then in May, 1929, Ina Claire, actress, became his third bride. Final divorce papers in this romance were recorded in August, 1932.

It was the same month that Virginia Helen Briggs, who came to the screen from the Follies under the name of Virginia Bruce, became the fourth Mrs. John Gilbert.

Susan Ann was born the following year, and it was not long after that event that a trial separation was announced, and on May 2, 1934, the fourth Mrs. Gilbert filed her suit for divorce. She was twenty-three years of age.

FROM SASKATOON

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—John Gilbert, the screen star, who died in Hollywood to-day, was a son of John Pringle and his first wife known professionally as "Jolly" Della Pringle and who appeared in vaudeville houses through Canada some twenty-five or more years ago.

John Pringle, who died a couple of years ago at Gilbert's home in Hollywood, was at one time well known here, where he owned and managed a stock company and when the show business became very poor, ran a small novelty store.

When business began to pick up after the depression of 1907 and 1908, he formed another stock company and moved to the coast, eventually drifting to Hollywood, so the story runs. His son, then a rising star, discovered his father acting as an extra in one of his productions.

Trenton, N.J., Jan. 9.—Hunterdon County Prosecutor Anthany Hauch announced to-day that a neighbor of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopewell had given him a signed statement that a man and woman he saw near the Lindbergh estate several times in April, 1931, resembled Bruno Richard Hauptmann and his wife Anna.

Haugch, a member of the Hauptmann prosecution at the Flemington trial, declined to express an opinion on the value of the statement, but termed David Moore, the man who gave it, "a very good citizen." The prosecutor said investigators were checking corroborating witnesses named by Moore.

Chinese Refuses Foot Operation

Restaurant Owner In Detroit Wishes Burial With Ancesters in Orient

Associated Press

Detroit, Jan. 9.—Chan Hong Jim grimly faces death in a receiving hospital here from an infection, insisting he prefers to meet his ancestors with his body complete rather than allow surgeons to amputate his feet and perhaps save his life.

Solemnly the elders of the On Leong Tong debated the decision of the fifty-year-old restaurant proprietor and then informed Dr. John Prendergast, medical director of the hospital, who had sought their counsel, that Chan Hong Jim's course was the only honorable one.

The patient announced his decision after surgeons had told him the operation was necessary to save his life. He is suffering from gangrene. Firmly refusing to submit to the operation, the Chinese merchant told hospital officials he preferred an honorable burial in China now to added life, marred by an operation that might keep him out of the burial ground of his ancestors.

Big Air Force For Germany Advocated

Associated Press

Berlin, Jan. 9.—Germany needs an air force second to none in the world, as an arm of unassailable defence, according to Ernst August Lehmann, aviation expert, who had an article published in Die Deutsche Wehr yesterday.

Such a force, he added, need not be regarded as a threat to anyone.

"Politicians who still believe in the possibility of limiting armaments are mad," he wrote. "It is impossible to think of limiting aerial armaments so long as France and the Soviets are arming themselves with such speed."

BRITAIN HAS YOUNG M.P.'S

Canadian Press

London, Jan. 9.—The New House of Commons furnishes an abundant supply of material for pursuit of the policy of Prime Minister Baldwin of recruiting young men to positions of responsibility n the cabinet.

More than one-sixth of 615 members are under the age of forty. Eight of these are Labor members and all the rest—ninety-eight—Conservatives. The Conservative Party can therefore claim one in every four of its members in the House is under forty.

Thirteen M.P.'s are under thirty. Of these, twelve are Conservatives and one is a Labor member—Malcolm MacMillan, the "baby" of the House. He is twenty-two and represents the Western Isles. Charles S. Taylor, Eastbourne, the youngest Conservative, is three years older.

MacMillan is the only "under thirty" from Scotland in any party. Scottish Conservatives have nine members under forty — Robert Boothby, the Marquess of Clydesdale, Lord Douglas, Sir Edmund Findlay, J. H. McKie, Lord William Scott, James Thompson and H. J. S. Wonderburn. There is no Scottish Labor M.P. in the thirties.

Wales has two members under forty —Aneurin Bevan, Labor, and P. Temple Morris, Conservative.

Russo-Japanese War Predicted

Clash Inevitable, Says Frederick Whyte, British Expert

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Jan. 9.—Frederick Whyte, former adviser to the British government in China, yesterday expressed the opinion a Russo-Japanese war was "inevitable."

"It may be said that a war between Russia and Japan is inevitable," he told the Royal United Service Institution.

"It is conceivable, although I do not believe it probable, that there may be war between the United States and Japan," he added, "but the circumstances which might promote a Japanese - American war would bring us in."

NEW HOUSING IN SHANGHAI

Four Model Villages For Factory Workers Are Start of Scheme

Canadian Press

Shanghai, China, Jan. 9.—The first effort of the government to raise the living standards of the workers was marked here recently with the opening of four "model villages," each consisting of 250 small houses and a recreation centre. They are being rented to the city's poor at the lowest possible rentals.

At an average of five tenants to a house, it is estimated 5,000 persons will be accommodated by the new scheme. These will come from the factory district of Shanghai, where more than 100,000 workers live in squalid one-room huts, with mud walls, mud floors, thatch roofs, no windows and usually nothing but a piece of sacking over the doorway opening.

The four model villages consist of "A" and "B" class houses. The former, few in number, consist of two rooms, a kitchen and toilet facilities. The "B" class houses are one room, a loft, a kitchen and a toilet. There is running water in every kitchen, but baths will have to be taken at the social centre buildings.

LEADERS TRAINED

For four months a class of thirty-seven members has been receiving special training as social service workers, and these new graduates will manage the social centres, and also supervise the dormitories where single men can rent beds for one dollar a month (about thirty cents Canadian).

An investigation committee has learned the workers pay an average of one dollar a month for the squalid huts in which they now live, and that the average rickaha worker's rent is about $2.43 (about seventy-five cents Canadian) a month. Rentals in the new villages will be kept at about the same level.

Stable Man Is Freed of Murder

W. Schaeffer Acquitted at Louisville, K.Y., of Killing Mrs. Evelyn Sliwinski

Associated Press

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 9.—Walter Schaeffer, twenty-five-year-old racing stable exercise boy from Chicago Heights, Ill., to-day stood acquitted of murder in the death of Mrs. Evelyn Sliwinski, killed by an automobile after a wild party here the night of October 20.

A jury in criminal court found Schaeffer "not guilty" after deliberating an hour and forty-eight minutes yesterday evening.

Commonwealth's Attorney Merit O'Neil said dismissal of an accessory charge against Willie "Smoky" Saunders, the dapper little Calgary jockey who was Mrs. Sliwinski's companion on the party, was "under consideration." He thought it improbable Saunders could be convicted of aiding Schaeffer "in a murder that wasn't committed."

Schaeffer was accused of crushing the woman to death by driving Saunders's car over her body at the end of a party last autumn. Schaeffer and Saunders, who rode Omaha to victory in the 1935 Kentucky Derby, had picked up Mrs. Sliwinski and Mrs. Agatha Defelice Mackinson.

A defence witness, Raymond Marilla, testified that a Louisville man had told him his car had struck Mrs. Sliwinski as she lay in the road.

BOY KILLED AS WALLS FALL

Canadian Press

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Tons of debris were tossed into the street at Point St. Charles yesterday evening before firemen and volunteers discovered that only one youngster had been trapped by the sudden collapse of a crumbling tenement.

The body of nine-year-old Douglas Norman was recovered shortly after the vacant building, almost wrecked by children and men seeking fuel, collapsed on Coleraine Street late yesterday afternoon. For five hours searchers combed the wreckage before it was determined no other lives had been lost.

William Baxter, a shaggy-haired old cripple, told how he had been in the lower flat of the old house, in which young Norman was born, when he heard a "terrific wrenching of the wood." He grabbed thirteen-year-old Edward Kavanagh by the collar and just stepped out the door when the structure gave way.

Part of the building had been torn down under condemnation orders of the city, and neighbors said children and men had been weakening the building daily by removing wooden supports and rafters for fuel.

ALBERTA AUTO YEAR IS CHANGED

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Jan. 9.—Good and bad news for Alberta motorists was given in an announcement by Premier Aberhart yesterday, revealing that 1936 motor licenses would be good for fifteen months, but a drivers' license fee of $1 a year would be required. At the same time, the Premier announced a tax would be imposed on all grades of fuel oil, but this does not affect the lubricating oil used by motor cars.

Long urged by the Alberta Motor Association, Premier Aberhart announced the motor license year would be changed to conform with the fiscal year ending March 31.

Legislation for these changes would be introduced at the coming session of the Legislature, the Premier said.

LICENSE FEES IN VANCOUVER GROW

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—License fees collected by the city of Vancouver for the year 1935 totaled $408,862, an increase of $17,047 over the previous year and $8,862 above the amount estimated in the city's budget for last year, according to License Inspector H. A. Urquhart.

Licenses totaling 26,207 were issued, 409 fewer than the previous year. This decrease was due to the fact that no licenses were issued for "pin tables" last year while about 1,000 of these were licensed in 1934, said Mr. Urquhart.

Social Credit Debate Delayed

M.P.'s-elect Supporting Aberhart Plan Will Not Introduce Resolutions at Coming Commons Session; Caucus at Edmonton

Edmonton, Jan. 9.—Little direct action toward establishing social credit in Canada will be taken at the coming session of Parliament in Ottawa by the Social Credit members, according to J. H. Blackmore, M.P.-elect for Lethbridge, and parliamentary group leader attending a caucus here.

Mr. Blackmore thinks it unlikely a resolution will be introduced for a debate on the question. The activities of the group, he said, would be turned in the direction of support for any measures that will have a tendency toward the ultimate objective of social credit legislation.

"There is a general feeling among our members," said the Lethbridge leader, "that to introduce a social credit motion before there is sufficient informed opinion to understand it would be to invite defeat and ridicule."

"The Alberta Social Credit group will go to Ottawa," said Mr. Blackmore, "with a definite attitude on every important question. It is our intention to press for such legislation as will be of ultimate benefit to the whole Dominion."

ABERHART HEARD

The federal Social Credit members-elect, who started a caucus here yesterday with Mr. Blackmore presiding, were in session again to-day, considering the general platform to be followed in Parliament.

Premier Aberhart of Alberta, invited to the caucus, addressed the assembled members-elect yesterday. He explained his ideas on application of Social Credit principles in Alberta and throughout Canada and the effect that various acts might have on its successful application.

"The general conclusion was that Social Credit could be successfully applied in any province or in the Dominion of Canada according to the British North America Act," said Mr. Blackmore after the caucus session. Besides discussing this question and unemployment, we dealt briefly with other vital problems pertaining to the welfare of the Dominion.

PAY FOR FARM WORKERS

Members-elect yesterday declared themselves in favor of payments to male relief recipients for work done on farms rather than supporting them in relief camps. The caucus was unanimous in support of the suggestion of Premier Aberhart, made during his address, that money now paid to men in relief camps be applied toward payment for farm labor.

Mr. Blackmore said after the afternoon session that assistance to Alberta's basic industry was seen as the greatest advantage in this proposal.

"Such payments, the gathering felt, could be applied to farm labor, supplementing wages paid by farmers to hired men," said Mr. Blackmore.

"The plan suggested by Mr. Aberhart is that this apply to all western Canada."

In the federal polling October 14 last seventeen Social Credit candidates were elected to the Commons—fifteen in Alberta and two in Saskatchewan.

RETAIL CODES PLAN OPPOSED

Calgary Board of Trade Voices Objection to Alberta Cabinet's Scheme

Calgary, Jan. 9.—The Retail section of the Calgary Board of Trade does not favor establishment of a retailers' code for Alberta. This was made known yesterday.

It is the plan of the Provincial Government to establish codes under the Trades and Industry Act. Representatives of the board of trade, in a letter to Hon. Ernest C. Manning, Provincial Secretary, have objected to two major clauses. They are price fixing and licensing of merchants, as proposed under the code.

Retailers object to a system of price fixing which would not include operations of mail order business either from outside or inside the province.

Wallet Returned To Stepin Fetchit

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 9. — Stepin Fetchit, the negro actor who moves and talks in low gear, was pleased, but not greatly excited, by the finding of a wallet in which he was reported to have lost $4,500.

The money-filled wallet was found by Kenneth Windham, milk truck driver, who immediately telephoned Fetchit. The negro drawled would be bring it to him. He paid a 50 reward when this was done.

WATER PIPE TO BE REPLACED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—Contracts totaling $294,880, for replacement of water pipe from Capilano Canyon to Marine Drive, on the north shore, with reinforced concrete piping, were awarded at a meeting of the Greater Vancouver Water District Board here yesterday. A by-law was also passed authorizing the issue and sale of temporary debentures, totaling $350,000, for the work.

Roosevelt Opens Election Campaign

President in Speech Declares Basic Issue of U.S. Election Is Retention of Popular Government

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 9.—Renewing an assault on those he termed "reactionaries," President Roosevelt signalled the former opening of the Democratic election campaign yesterday evening with an indirect appeal for support from voters of all "political affiliations."

Projecting his voice to hundreds of Jackson Day dinner rallies throughout the country, the President asserted the most recent language from the Supreme Court would "affect the lives of Americans for years to come."

He concluded his brief reference to the high court's overthrow of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration without offering an immediate substitute, but earlier in his address he had asserted that the "basic issue" of the 1936 campaign will be "the retention of popular government."

Applause all but drowned out his concluding words: "We will not retreat."

EACH GUEST PAID $50

A seventy second ovation greeted the President as he rose to speak directly to the nearly 2,000 Democratic leaders and adherents, crowded into a hotel ballroom for dinner at $50 a plate. The diners included members of the National Committee, scheduled to meet to-day to select a city and date for the party's convention.

The chief executive urged an effort by all voters to get "at the truth" behind the "smoke of charges and counter charges of a national campaign.

Twice the President emphasized that he sought to speak to citizens regardless of "political affiliations," and once urged as "essential" an "organization among all those, regardless of party, who believe in retaining progress and ideals."

AID FOR FARMERS

Briefly referring to the Supreme Count's decision against the AAA, the President declined to say what would be done. He promised, however, that "justice" for agriculture would remain an objective of his administration.

"MUSTY REACTION"

In the body of his speech, Mr. Roosevelt from time to time hit at "musty reaction" and "outworn traditionalism." He asserted that "no party of reaction" could "meet the temper of the people."

Some observers who listened to the executive had expected him, in an address intended for a party rally, to renew emphatically the sharp slashes at New Deal critics embodied in his annual message to Congress.

Instead, Mr. Roosevelt dwelt but lightly on that line.

He spoke of the messages he had received after that address, a great number of which he said came from businessmen, bankers and manufacturers.

"The gist of their messages to me," he said, "is that they appreciate and are grateful for my statement that it is but a minority in business and finance that would "gang up" against the people's liberties. I reiterate that assertion to-night.

"By far the greater part of the businessmen, industrialists and other employers of the nation seek no special advantage; they seek only an equal opportunity to share in the benefits and the obligations of government."

Legion of Honor For Walt Disney

Father Coughlin Wants Newspaper

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 9. — President Roosevelt talked with Rev. Father Coughlin of Detroit in a twenty-minute visit yesterday which was described by the priest as "entirely social."

Father Coughlin said he was going to establish a national newspaper and was looking for the best possible editorial writers.

DOYLE DEAF TO CALL OF ERIN

Canadian Press

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 9.—From all indications that crooning pugilist Jack Doyle, one time heavyweight boxing champion of Ireland, has lost all yearnings for the "Ould Sod."

It was learned here yesterday Doyle is planning to appear before the American Consul in Windsor to apply for a two-weeks extension of his visa, which expired Tuesday.

At the expiration of the two weeks the Irish giant, who stands six feet four and one-half inches in height, hopes to be able to remain in the country on a non-quota visa.

"Through my United States wife I have the preference to stay until I apply for my first papers, which I've done already," explained Doyle. His wife is the former Judith Allen of movie fame.

ALSO IN CANADA

THE COLLAPSE OF THE AAA REMINDS us that a somewhat similar situation affecting the constitutionality of federal legislation has arisen in Canada. The King government has submitted eight measures initiated by the late administration to the Supreme Court at Ottawa to determine whether the Dominion Parliament had the power to enact them or not. This course was urged upon the Bennett administration by Mr. King, who with his supporters questioned the validity of the legislation on the ground that it was an invasion of the provincial legislative field. The former Minister of Justice, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, admitted that he doubted the constitutionality of one of the measures and said he was supported in his opinion by two eminent Canadian counsel, but the bill was rushed through just the same. These laws were based upon a blanket provision of the B.N.A. Act affecting the good government of Canada, a provision similar to the general welfare clause of the U.S. constitution upon which Washington based its New Deal legislation.

There is an important point of difference between Canada and the United States in the division of legislative power between the federal and state, or provincial, law-making institutions. Under the constitution of the republic, after certain powers are specifically delegated to the Congress and others reserved for the states, the latter have jurisdiction over all matters which are not specifically defined. In Canada the delegation of specific powers is made to the provinces with the residuary jurisdiction reserved to the Dominion Parliament.

The preservation of state rights always has been a cardinal element in the constitutional structure of the United States. On that issue the southern confederacy seceded from the union with a resultant four years of civil war. When the union was constituted it was on the theory that the states were to be endowed with wide sovereign rights, that there should not be any undue centralization of power at Washington, and that there should be a Supreme Court to provide a judicial balance.

In Canada the preservation of provincial rights also was a conspicuous condition of confederation, and although controversies between Ottawa and the provinces have not gone beyond the courts, the subject always has been of paramount importance, so much so that there is going to be a revision of the national constitution in such a way as to remove all doubt of the relative legislative powers of the Dominion and provinces.

TAXI DRIVERS AND FINGER PRINTS

THE VANCOUVER POLICE AUTHORITIES have decided that all taxi drivers within the municipality shall have their finger prints recorded for the purposes of facilitating the prevention, detection and punishment of crime and criminals. But why limit this expedient to taxi drivers? Why not extend it to the whole community? Why not, for instance, include the City Council and other civic administrative bodies, the civic public service, the clergy, educationists, the bench, the bar and professional people generally, cabinet ministers, members of Parliament and the Legislature, businessmen, mechanics, laborers and even visitors.

All this might be done by tax collectors and other officials in contact with the public, who could be trained to take finger prints in a short time. Hotel clerks could require guests to record finger prints when they signed the register. Each finger-printee should have a photostatic copy of his print always on his person, to be exhibited whenever desirable. Perhaps it could be stamped indelibly on the arm or leg so that it might be shown with a vaccination scar. Indeed, a purple finger-print design alongside a vaccination mark would make a rather pretty combination.

Taxi drivers are not a criminal class. There are, in fact, criminals in all classes of society, from the top to the bottom. A driver who keeps contact with bootleggers or any stratum of the so-called underworld is no worse—actually he is better—than many who use him. The man who filches a few dollars from a cash register is certainly no worse than he who extracts large sums from the public by bogus promotions, or anybody else who profits from the exploitation of public gullibility. And the grafter is not the possession of any particular division of society. Crooks and potential crooks flourish everywhere, even in the most exclusive social quarters, and therefore any finger-print dragnet to be effective should cover an entire community.

Besides, finger prints are useful as means of identification apart altogether from their utility as agencies for the prevention and detection of crime. So let Vancouver have the whole thing or nothing. Its experiment in that case might be adopted all over the country, and the historian would be able to designate 1936 as the beginning of a Finger-print Era.

WHO KNOWS?

OVER THE WIRES YESTERDAY CAME a dispatch from New York telling us that within the next half century we will be able to breathe pasteurized air and that in this respect the progress of air-conditioning will make inside air better than the air outside.

Mr. A. W. Robertson, who is a noted authority on electrical development, fathers this prediction, which, with his other prophecies, is not far-fetched, in the light of the record. Thirty-five years ago there were a few horseless buggies, an invention which shocked the pedestrian by dashing along the rough roads of that day at the reckless speed of about twelve miles an hour. And there was no radio. Who envisaged the streamlined train, or the car which Sir Malcolm Campbell drove over the salt sands of Utah, last year, at a wee bit more than 300 miles an hour, and so on?

So let Mr. Robertson tell us, among other things, that the air which we will be breathing in fifty years' time will be pasteurized, that "you will probably find it healthier to stay indoors than breathe fumes outdoors," and that people will be doing many things a half a century from now that will make the first flight of the Wright Brothers in a heavier-than-air machine in the early days of the century look like a kindergarten accomplishment?

B.C.'S ADVERSE BALANCE

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT proposes to reorganize its tourist publicity service so that it may become a more effective factor in offsetting British Columbia's adverse balance in tourist trade. That adverse margin in 1934 reached the formidable total of $10,000,000, which is to say that British Columbians who went away expended that amount more than visitors spent in the province. It ought to be pointed out, however, that this unfavorable balance was for the province as a whole. The tourist business on Vancouver Island was more profitable, and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau was able to point to a substantial gain of tourist income over outgo, a condition attributable very largely to the activities of the local Bureau.

Much can be done by the provincial government in supplementing the operations of the Victoria and Vancouver tourist organizations. By close co-operation and co-ordination backed by adequate financial resources it should be possible to make a much better provincial showing. Obviously, this is a matter of proper outside publicity not only in the United States and Canada, but farther abroad. The Ontario government has recently been conducting an intensive campaign in this way and in the first six months of 1935 more tourists visited that province than were recorded for all of the other Canadian provinces together. This was done with a relatively small expenditure, none of which was spent uselessly.

This tourist drain upon the economic life of British Columbia is a serious matter, and with proper organization and effective work should be easy to correct. No other province in Canada has so much to offer tourists in scenic and climatic advantage as British Columbia, whose tourist business should be made a capital asset instead of a liability. Given the will and interest there is no good reason why the province as a whole should not present as favorable a record in the attraction of tourist travel as the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

ARMAMENT AND WAR

THERE IS GOING ON IN LONDON AND Washington an inquiry into the armament business. Big financial leaders are being investigated in the United States inquiry and large munitions concerns in the inquiry in Britain.

The charge, in general, is that these interests have been engaged in war promotion. A committee of the League of Nations some years ago declared that this was true and much that has been said and written in the last fifteen years obviously suggests there must be something in the charge.

Back of much of this business is the sinister figure of Sir Basil Zaharoff, so-called mystery man of Europe, who has been trading in the implements of war for years. Sir Philip Gibbs, the well-known author who is a member of the British commission inquiring into the arms racket, said yesterday that Zaharoff was still "walking through the courts of Europe and acting as an agent for the sale of munitions of war."

Sir Herbert Lawrence, chairman of both Vickers Limited, and Vickers-Armstrong Limited, insisted that Sir Basil Zaharoff had not participated in the activities of the Vickers group since 1924, except that he had held an interest in a Spanish firm.

It would be interesting to hear or read something about this Spanish firm in which the Greek, Zaharoff, is interested. "My firm of Vickers" was a notation which Sir Philip Gibbs quoted at the proceedings in London yesterday as being that of Sir Basil written in 1925.

In both London and Washington the men who are before the committees loudly protest their innocence of war promotion. They maintain that they are merely running their concerns in the ordinary way of business. But their agents are generally to be found close at hand whenever a conference on disarmament is held and their companies not only have not suffered from the depression but actually have profited more in the last five years than they did in any other similar period since the Great War was in progress.

MAJOR ATTLEE

THE LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION IN the British House of Commons is Major C. R. Attlee, whose background does not fit him into the picture of an extremist of the Moscow order which some of his critics have painted. He has been a Labor member of Parliament for the London division of Limehouse since 1922, and has adhered to his party without reservation or deviation ever since.

Major Attlee was educated at Haileybury College, at University College, Oxford; called to the bar at the Inner Temple in 1905; became secretary of Toynbee Hall in 1910. It is interesting to note, moreover, that he was tutor and lecturer in Social Science at the London School of Economics for several years.

The leader of the Labor party in the British House of Commons has another record, quite apart from the achievements upon which he based his bid for public life. He served in the South Lancashire regiment and Tank Corps (Gallipoli, Mesopotamia and France), 1914-1919. His political career includes the secretaryship to the Leader of the Opposition from 1922 to 1924. He was Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, 1930-1931; Postmaster-General, 1931; Member of the Indian Statutory Commission, 1927.

Major Attlee also is something of an author, having written much on social problems. His hobbies are golf and tennis.

THE WISER WAY

The rich man said: "I'll smooth his way,
The cares I knew when I was small
And all the tasks which spoiled my play
My son shall never know at all."

An older man looked up and said:
"What's wrong with having work to do?
What's wrong with going tired to bed?
'Twas this that made a man of you."

If for the answers he can turn
To you when bothered by his sums,
How can that youngster ever learn
Just what to do when trouble comes?

Loose Ends

We wind up the affairs of the Golden Calf Mines Limited—and find that the whole project was a magnificent success—with everyone satisfied but the shareholders.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

EXPLANATION

IN FAIRNESS to our mine, the Golden Calf, I feel that, having told all the bad news about it, I should tell the good news. Things are a lot better in the Golden Calf than we had dared to hope. Yes, we have just discovered that while the stock is now worthless, we shareholders cannot be held responsible for any of the debts of the company.

In other words, by skilful management and rare good fortune we are getting out of the project merely with the loss of all the money we had put in. Having expected for some time that I should have to go to the penitentiary for ever investing in the company, I feel, on the whole, that the entire financial transaction may be regarded as a magnificent success.

This just shows you what you can do with patience, foresight and a real faith in the boundless natural resources and God-given wealth of this fair country of ours. And then, after we have demonstrated the possibilities, you still hear shallow-minded fellows saying there are no opportunities for young men in British Columbia.

Why bless you, we not only got out with merely the loss of our investment, but we almost hit ore. Yes, they assure me that if they had been tunnelling into some other mountain they might have struck ore; if there were ore in the other mountain, I mean. They are confident that if they had been operating in the shaft of the Pioneer Mine or the Premier, for instance, they might have hit ore. Personally, I doubt it myself. I doubt that our experts would ever discover gold even in the Canadian mint, but no matter. The point is that we just missed ore, by a few miles.

So far as I can find out, we got boring into the wrong mountain. It was rather bad luck, when you come to think of it, that we should have selected practically the only mountain in British Columbia where there is no gold, when we could just as easily have chosen some other one. But as our engineers point out, anyone can choose a mountain with ore in it. Positive genius, almost second sight, is required to pick a mountain in British Columbia where there is no trace of ore whatever.

WE GO AHEAD

IT WAS ON THIS THEORY, I suppose, that we went ahead and erected an expensive mill and established a camp and provided work and wages for a large crew. We were so enthusiastic about it, you know, that we couldn't wait to start turning out gold, so we just crushed and milled any old rock that came along. Actually, there was some gold in the first rock that went through the mill, but you cannot expect to avoid mistakes altogether at the start. This, the engineers said, was one of the risks you had to take in a mining venture, and we readily excused them. The mistake did not occur again.

You get tired of milling rock after a while. It's good fun at first, but it just seems to bore you after the first ten or fifteen thousand tons. Even the pride of craftsmanship and accomplishment in reducing big rocks to little ones and little ones to fine dust begins to pall in time. So we have closed the mill. We thought at one time of using it to crush rock for the making of roads, but there are no roads nearby, and as it would cost ten times as much to make the road material as it could be sold for, I was opposed to the idea. I felt instinctively that it was unsound, somehow.

We are considering now another plan under which the mill would be used to grind up wheat and make shredded wheat, but there is no wheat within five hundred miles of the mill, and, besides, we can't figure out how to make those nice long brown shreds.

WRONG COLOR

NONE OF OUR ENGINEERS is a shredder. One of the directors proposed that we use our grinding machinery to make talcum powder, but as our rock is quite black and the resulting powder the color of charcoal, we had to abandon the idea. The population of British Columbia, we feel, is not large enough to absorb our output of black talcum powder at the present time.

The only really practical suggestion for the utilization of the mill so far advanced is that the original promoters of the project be put through it and ground to a fine powder. But as this powder would be utterly useless for anything, we have given that notion up.

It is such a sad thing, though, to think of that fine mill standing there in the wilderness, that splendid monument to man's ingenuity, that magnificent tribute to our genius as business men and pioneers—it is such a sad thing to think of it rusting away there in idleness instead of grinding merrily away as nature intended, that we shall probably have to dismantle it. For this purpose, a levy on the shareholders is proposed. Any man, of course, would feel privileged to contribute to such an excellent cause. After all, you can't leave a fine mill standing alone in the wilderness, homeless, hungry for ore, its great maw empty.

INJUSTICE

WHEN THE MILL has been demolished we can look back on our efforts of the last two years with a certain pardonable pride. Our only regret is that we cannot spread our good fortune over the population at large. Our joy is a little saddened by the knowledge that there are thousands of people here in Victoria who never shared our joy, who never had a cent invested in Golden Calf, who are forced to live year after year on their own toil. This is part of the injustice of our rotten social system. If we could improve the system, you may be sure that we would have gladly distributed our stock broadcast, at only a few points above our purchase price; or even a few points below.

While satisfaction with the whole operation is general, yet there are a few fellows who still complain. You have kickers, I suppose, in any enterprise. There was So-and-So, for instance, who got some 50,000 shares, as I remember it, for about $500 because he was in on the Ground Floor and showed his faith in the enterprise at the beginning.

He had calculated quite reasonably that the stock would be worth at least $10 a share, so that he might look forward to a reasonable return on his investment of $500. He expected to make $500,000. They are thrifty, plain, homey folks, So-and-So's wife had planned to spend two years on a trip around the world and had just rejected the temptation to buy an ermine coat in favor of a simple seal-skin, and So-and-So had refused to buy a Rolls-Royce, being contented with a mere Cadillac. They planned a simple little place in the Uplands costing about a hundred thousand.

HUGE LOSS

WELL, SO-AND-SO HAS LOST $500,000 in Golden Calf. He put in $500, but he lost $500,000. That is a pretty heavy loss. But such a huge disaster has given him a new prestige in the financial community. After all, a man who can lose so much must have wealth. He will go through life now with the reputation of having been a big shot once. He will probably be able to borrow a lot of money on his losses in Golden Calf. You can sympathize with the So-and-So's. There will be no trip around the world, no modest little place in the Uplands. I suppose there are other cases of genuine hardship. It is comforting to know, though, that So-and-So had sold half his stock to a friend of his when it was worth about 50 cents a share. It was kind of him to let his friend in on a good thing like that. The stock dropped to 10 cents the next day and kept on dropping. This is just the luck of the game, as he pointed out. He is just naturally big-hearted.

There are a lot of big-hearted fellows in this town when you get to know them. You would be surprised to find out how many of them were willing to sell their stock below the market value to their friends after they had been tipped off that there was no ore in the mine.

Anyway, I thought a few lines of poetry should be written to mark the end and burial of the Golden Calf. I have written them and while they don't amount to much in a literary way, I think they are rather affecting.

THE GOLDEN CALF

The Golden Calf was small at birth,
We fed it well with money,
To make it grow to a Golden Cow,
And feed us milk and honey.

Our hill held gold, no doubt of that,
For we had sunk it there,
But how to get it out again?
Well, no one seemed to care.

We spent our profits in advance,
With joy our hearts were full,
But the Golden Calf ne'er was a cow
But just some Golden Bull.

FOX-HUNTING

To the Editor:—I happen to be what has been described as a humanitarian; that is to say, I have taken a leading part, from time to time, in campaigns against various forms of cruelty to animals. But it does not seem to me to be reasonable to side with attacks on fox-hunting in the Old Country so long as one is bound to admit the truth that in fox-hunting alone lies the hope of the fox for the perpetration of his species under natural conditions in Britain.

Until then, humanity accepts a philosophy which prefers the extinction of a species to a hazardous life for that species. It is not good humanitarianism to demand a behaviorism which inevitably would mean the extinction of the British fox and the Exmoor stag, excepting in such limited reservations as might be provided for those animals.

Masefield's poem reveals highlights as well as tragedy in the natural life of the fox; the joy of living as well as the fear of death, and who shall say that it is not a happier life for a wild animal than the bored existence, for instance, of the lonely white bear in the park in Victoria?

Whence it seems to me that humanitarians should concentrate their efforts against forms of cruelty which have no conditional justification.

Instances of these more proper if less spectacular forms of cruelty are: The dehorning of grown animals, the slaughter of cattle, sheep and pigs by methods that are illegal in Germany and Britain, the amateur destruction of unwanted dogs, indiscriminate trapping and fish spearing, and much wholly superfluous routine vivisection. Here is an abundance of business of far greater aggregate importance for the humanitarian than a little fox-hunting; and most of it is inexcusable on any rational grounds.

Simply because it is spectacular, and because there is a "class distinction," fox-hunting is censured while other sorts of cruelty on a far greater scale escape notice.

In Australia, for instance, scores of thousands of sheep and lambs are bought by speculators in Sydney and elsewhere in dry seasons for a few shillings each, and taken from watered farms on the coast to stations inland to take their chance of probably dying of thirst and starvation and flies, or of possibly living to make a fortune for the speculator if it rains.

Let the humanitarians in the dominions get to work on these beams and leave the Old Country mote alone if only for the sake of the fox.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

To the Editor:—Now that we have been told the motives which induced Sir Samuel Hoare to submit for the consideration of the League of Nations an iniquitous peace plan, it is timely, at the beginning of a momentous year, for each of us to draw for himself the practical moral.

The British Foreign Secretary saw only too clearly—more clearly than most of his less-informed critics—the appalling possibilities of a surprise attack, prepared with the latest weapons of science, upon a single fleet which could expect no prompt military support from any of its League fellow members, possibilities pregnant with disaster to all mankind. Was not the immediate sacrifice of the sovereignty of a backward nation, even to the will of its aggressor, the lesser evil?

Responsible for so tremendous a decision, staking the safety of many more peoples than his own, who of us, from fear for humanity, would

STREAM-LINED BUSSES COMING

Coach Lines Orders Luxurious Vehicles For Use on Nanaimo Run

The Vancouver Island Coach Lines have ordered two specially-appointed streamlined motor-coaches for use on the Victoria-Nanaimo run, it was anounced to-day.

The new coaches will be of all-British manufacture, the chassis and bodies being built to the Coach Lines' own specifications by the Hayes Manufacturing Company at Vancouver. They will be powered by Leyland engines of the compression-ignition type, also assembled at the Hayes plant upon arrival from England.

Designed to seat thirty-five passengers, the new coaches are fully streamlined. They will be longer and higher than those already in use by the company, a feature of their design being a baggage compartment in the rear, and large inside racks for the accommodation of hand luggage.

Everything to ensure the safety and comfort of the passengers is being incorporated in the design. The interiors of the coaches will be luxuriously appointed. New type easy-chair seats with special head-rests, indirect lighting for general illumination and individual reading lamps at each pair of seats, all will make traveling more restful. The coaches are air-conditioned, draftless windows and special heating and ventilating system will keep the interiors at a pleasant temperature at all seasons of the year. The springing of the chassis is such that the maximum of riding-comfort is assured.

It is expected that the new coaches will arrive in Victoria early in April, when they will be put into services on up-island route.

MAY ALTER SCHOOL AGE

School Board Discusses Admission of Pupils at Earlier Age

The advisability of admitting children to city grade schools at an age a few months younger than the minimum now in force was discussed by George H. Deane, municipal inspector, before the city school board yesterday evening.

The action was taken with a view to eliminating registration of new pupils at the beginning of January.

Mr. Deane explained only thirty-four beginners had been enrolled at the different grade schools of the city when the present term started on Monday. In some cases the number admitted to the receiving class was seven, while other schools had only one.

SHOWS DIFFICULTIES

Two beginners in a class of thirty-five who had started in September could not receive the individual attention they would require to bring them along with the same success as those in the larger group, he said. A teacher could not afford to devote individual attention to them to the detriment of the larger group, the municipal inspector explained.

The system of admitting small numbers at the end of the Christmas holidays usually resulted in the development of lack of attention and faulty habits leading to listlessness and other features which frequently cause retardation as the pupils progressed to higher classes, he said.

The number was particularly small this term, Mr. Deane said, noting leniency had been shown in September when children actually younger than the minimum age had been admitted.

He intended to give the matter more study before making a recommendation to the board, he said.

O. M. BROWN IS SUPERINTENDENT

The annual meeting of the teachers and officers of the First Baptist Sunday School was held on Tuesday evening, at the home of Rev. G. A. Reynolds, Belmont Avenue. A large number of members were present.

The annual report which was submitted by the secretary showed that the Sunday school had a successful year.

The election of officers then took place, resulting as follows: Superintendent, O. M. Brown; assistant superintendent, Grant Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Miss Nora Gibson, assistant secretary-treasurer, Miss Betty Gale; pianist, Mrs. O. M. Brown; assistant pianist, Miss Doris Bennett; birthday secretary, Miss Florence Philimore; primary superintendent, Miss Margaret Freeman; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. Ebert; home department superintendent, Mrs. Birkett; home department secretary, Miss Queenie Tabor; missionary programme convener, Miss Marion Stevenson; temperance programme convener, Miss Betty Gale; reporter, Miss Doris Bennett.

TOURIST VIEWS OF VICTORIA

Following are extracts from questionnaires sent out by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to secure views and suggestions from tourists who visited Vancouver Island during the summer:

"I came for fishing. My wife came to see the gardens."

"We appreciate the fact that the attractions of Vancouver Island are not exaggerated."

"Highways could be improved, but as I come from California I know I am spoiled."

"We felt it quite unjust to quote higher prices to tourists than to residents. We have a resident friend who will vouch this is a common practice."

"Butchart's Gardens were worth the whole trip."

"Why not interest hotels and cafes in serving good American coffee."

"I went to Victoria to buy woolen goods."

"Peaceful atmosphere."

"Fine people but bad roads."

"We were attracted by the quiet and peace, lack of commercialism and the composure and serenity of the English of Victoria."

"We had some excellent lamb chops."

"You have lots to learn in Victoria about coffee."

"We wanted a bicycle trip which included boat riding, so came to Victoria."

"Your motorists seem to ignore stop signs on arterial highways."

"Food could be improved."

"Too much red tape getting on ferry."

"Too much inconvenience in spending U.S. money. First we were asked for silver, then paper, and at one place they would accept neither."

"If we had not leased a house for the summer in Oregon we would have stayed in Victoria. We will come back."

"Attitude of pedestrians in Victoria seems to be to dare you to hit them."

"Advertising had nothing to do with it. We came for beer drinking. I think pedestrians should be kept from wandering around the middle of the streets. We object to the evident dislike, even to some of the most respectable Americans, by some of your citizens."

"Don't know how much we spent. My friend paid the bills. Had a wonderful trip."

"Your roads are terrible. You should use the seven-cent gas tax to fix them up. This is a common complaint of everyone who goes to Vancouver Island."

"Enjoyed the Chemainus oysters."

"Your bureau seems to be on the job."

"The quiet of Victoria was very soothing. Must come again."

"We especially enjoyed the absence of a radio in the hotel lobbies."

"The thought of seeing a little bit of old England, a country I admire deeply, attracted me to Vancouver Island."

"There is a mint of money in Campbell River Falls if there was a decent road to them."

"Foot passengers do not obey the traffic signals and glare at you if you do not stop when they are jay-walking."

"Cost of bringing a car over $9.90, on top of $4.50 for the driver. Gentlemen, it is too much."

"We enjoyed the quaint shops and also the gorgeous Butchart's Gardens."

"Everything fine except the roads."

"We come each year for the fishing but always dread the drive over the roads from Victoria."

"Victoria should be kept as much like southern England as possible. Keep it refined. Continue to develop gardens and beauty spots. Encourage tea rooms."

GOOD VOLUME SEED OUTPUT

Field Crops Commissioner Reports on Production During 1935

Production of red clover seed and timothy seed in British Columbia reached a high mark last year, according to figures in the annual report of Cecil Tice, provincial field crops commissioner, to Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture.

Red clover seed totaled 260,000 pounds and the timothy seed amounted to 750,808 pounds, both recording gains over the previous year.

Production of other seeds for field crops, other than grains, are shown as follows: Mangel, 9,000 pounds; turnip, 1,349 pounds; alfalfa, 40,000 pounds; alsike clover, 12,000 pounds.

The year 1935 was favorable for field crop production except on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland where the weather was extremely dry during the earlier part of the season. In sections of the interior where crops frequently suffer from insufficient moisture they had plenty of it.

Root and potato crops suffered heavily from frost at the end of October and the percentage of marketable hay out of an abundant crop was cut down through being spoilt by wet weather, the commissioner reported.

Preliminary reports indicate that distribution of seeds at reduced prices to Peace River farmers to encourage production of forage crops and the growing of earlier maturing varieties of grain proved satisfactory.

Mention is made by the commission of the success attained by Bert Young of Koksilah, with wheat and peas, and by E. J. Down of Woodpecker, with alsike clover, at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

LUNEY BID IS LOWEST

School Board Recommends Acceptance of Oaklands Auditorium Tender

The City School Board yesterday decided to forward to the City Council five tenders for the construction of Oaklands auditorium with the recommendation that the bid of Luney Bros Ltd., the lowest of the group, be accepted. That tender amounted to $7,760, including $7,300 for the construction of the auditorium and $460 for the heating system.

The actual tenders follow:

Luney Bros. Ltd., auditorium $7,300, heating, $460, total $7,760; D. W. Burnett, auditorium $7,626.75, heating $485, total $8,111.75; Parfitt Bros. Ltd., auditorium $7,793, heating $425, total $8,218; Williams, Trerise & Williams Ltd., auditorium and heating $8,362.75; Crowley & Rainaldi, auditorium $8,239.20, heating $460, total $8,699.20.

A heated debate sprung up between Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin and other members of the board, and Trustee C. R. Bishop particularly, over the legality of the tenders.

The City Council's letter to the board, requesting it to find employment for city residents whose taxes were in arrears and to pay a standard wage in carrying out the construction, was read. It brought pithy comment from C. Elwood Watkins, architect.

EXPLAIN NEGOTIATIONS

After Trustee W. C. Moresby, chairman of the board, had called on Mr. Watkins for an explanation of the tenders, Trustee Walter Staneland asked for the details of the first council letter regarding the price allowed for the building.

Trustees Moresby and Kenneth Ferguson explained the negotiations which had led up to final arrangement under which the council had ear-marked $7,500 of the provincial government's $100,000 for the project.

Trustee Moresby called again for the tenders. Trustee Mrs. MacLaurin rose to a question of privilege to ask if the tenders were drawn up on the plans passed at the last meeting of the board. She explained the board had agreed upon certain changes in the original plans by calling for alterations in the platform and kitchen for the structure.

Trustee Moresby said the altered plans approved by the board had not been followed out.

Trustee Mrs. MacLaurin thought the proceedings irregular since no special meeting had been called to rescind the board's motion in seeking the alterations.

The debate revealed the majority of board members had agreed to rescinding the alteration plan by telephone.

MENACE TO HARMONY

"I question whether we can consider any tenders on those grounds. I have tried to compromise and I do think it would be a very grave menace to the future harmony of the board if decisions can be altered that way. If such is the case it would appear some of the trustees are simply wasting their time," Mrs. MacLaurin said. She had brought forward the objection in the interest of constitutional action only, she added.

Trustee Moresby said the matter was one of emergency owing to the fact the year was drawing to an end and some action had to be taken. It was not feasible, owing to sanitary conditions, to make the alterations, he said. Members had been circularized and five had agreed to rescinding the revised plan motion. Their action had been supported by the municipal inspector and the principal of the school, he said.

The debate continued with Mrs. MacLaurin holding to her contention that a meeting should have been called to rescind the motion.

NOT FEASIBLE

Trustees P. E. George and Kenneth Ferguson explained their reasons for agreeing with the chairman, and Trustee Bishop concurred, saying Trustee Mrs. MacLaurin had brought in some plans of her own which were not feasible.

The board finally rescinded its motion for alterations and called for tenders, with Mrs. MacLaurin voting in opposition to the action.

When tenders had been opened, Mr. Watkins, replying to a question from Trustee Walter Staneland, said it had not been customary for the board to set an absolute wage scale, but that a standard scale was observed.

Trustee Moresby read the council's letter covering wages and types of labor to be given preference, and Mr. Watkins said such terms could not be imposed on the contractors.

On a motion by Trustee Bishop the tenders were forwarded to the City Council with the recommendation that that of Luney Bros. Ltd., the lowest submitted, be accepted.

Special Classes Accorded Support

The city School Board yesterday evening gave support to the regular nature study courses conducted each Saturday morning in the Museum and agreed to provide accommodation for the new night school course in prospecting.

Both departments had proved popular last year the municipal inspector reported, and no further expense was entailed in them to the city, in view of the fact the High School, where the prospecting course will start Monday evening, was used for other technical classes and had to be heated. The instructor was paid by the Provincial Government he said.

"CHRISTIAN HOMER"

The world knows Dante Alighieri, great Italian poet, as the "Christian Homer," creator of the "Divine Comedy" and hero of an idyllic love affair with Beatrice, his childhood sweetheart. But it was as soldier and political leader that Dante first became famous.

Born in 1265, in Florence, Dante at an early age found himself in the conflict between the Guelphs and the Ghibellines, who divided Italy at the time, and between the Whites and the Blacks in Florence. His nature placed him on the side of the Whites, or the ennobled rich, against the more conservative nobility, and led in 1300 to his election as a "prior" of Florence.

The next year, however, the Blacks came into power and Dante was forced into exile, in poverty. It was at this time that he is supposed to have written his greatest work, "The Divine Comedy." He spent the remainder of his life in Ravenna, and died there in 1321.

Dante is shown on one of three stamps issued by Italy in 1921, on the sixth centennial of his death.

Urges Economy By Trustees

Chairman of School Board Points to Need For Curbing Expenditures

Trustee W. C. Moresby, elected by the city school board as its chairman for his second successive year, yesterday evening urged on his 1936 committees the necessity for economy without impairing the condition of Victoria's schools.

He specifically asked the new building and grounds committee, composed of Trustees F. E. George, C. R. Bishop and John Wallace, not to exceed the board's 1935 estimates in that section and advised the finance committee, composed of Trustees Kenneth Ferguson, Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin and Walter Staneland, to study the question of teachers' salaries with a view to being fully prepared for an anticipated request for wage increases.

As chairman of the board he expected the usual letter from the City Council urging retrenchment and he, as well as the rest of the board, realized the depression was not over, Trustee Moresby said. He referred to possible changes in the financial set-up the February session of the provincial Legislature might effect.

"We must not be extravagant, but we must look after our schools," he said. The chairman reminded the board the building and grounds accounts were virtually the only expenditures over which the trustees had any control and then asked the committee in charge of that department not to exceed last year's estimates.

URGES STUDY OF SALARIES

Turning to the finance committee Trustee Moresby noted he had seen in the press reports of a proposal in Vancouver to increase salaries of teachers and school employees. He asked the members of the committee and the board generally to familiarize themselves with rates paid in Vancouver as well as other British Columbia points and to consider them on a proportionate basis with Victoria.

He said he had considered Victoria salaries in a proportionate sense to those of other centres and had found they compared very favorably with other points, being well above average.

He was not one to cut salaries, Trustee Moresby said, but he took the position the board was not justified in raising them unless it could see more revenue than was apparent for the city at present.

He asked the building and grounds committee to call an early meeting to decide on its work and recommended members of the finance committee to see George Deane, municipal inspector, on the salary question and to arrange purchases required during the year on the most economical basis.

He welcomed Trustees Walter Staneland and John Wallace, new members, to the board.

On behalf of the building and grounds committee of 1935, Trustee Charles Bishop expressed his group's appreciation of the whole-hearted support and co-operation given them during the year by the chairman. He presented to Trustee Moresby a giant black pencil in the hope it would not be used to "blue-pencil" that group's programme to too great an extent, nor record the operating expenses too much in the "red."

On behalf of last year's finance committee, Trustee Mrs. MacLaurin expressed appreciation of the assistance and support it had been accorded by the chairman.

Trustee Moresby replied fittingly with praise for the work of both groups in the year just completed.

PRINCES AT VIMY EVENT

Canadian Press

London, Jan. 9.—A report published here that the King is being invited to unveil the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge in July is declared in informed quarters to be without any foundation.

It is pointed out that it would be almost impossible for His Majesty to undertake such an engagement, although quite likely other members of the royal family will be present at the ceremony.

GREAT BIBLE TOTAL

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—More than 500,000,000 Bibles in as many as 806 languages have been published by the British and Foreign Bible Society since it was formed 132 years ago, according to Rev. J. B. M. Armour of Toronto, general secretary of the Canadian society, who spoke at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here yesterday evening.

SPEAKER WILL HONOR RADIO

A tribute to radio as "the greatest modern medium for the good of mankind" will be given by Elsie Ferguson during her appearance tomorrow over an NBC network during the Magic of Speech programme at 11 a.m., P.S.T.

The actress sees in radio a twofold force for education.

"On the one han radio makes it posible for people everywhere to hear the greatest variety of opinion. Its second great service and the one I shall discuss principally during my broadcast," she said, "is in the matter of speech. As a people we are much in need of training in how to speak properly."

The broadcast is under the direction of Vida Sutton and will also feature the Magic of Speech readers and a speaking chorus.

Stations will include KPO and KOMO.

New Radio Union Asks Labor Charter

Washington, D.C., Jan. 9.—There is considerable new worry at American Federation of Labor headquarters over the "revolt" of the Radio Workers' and Allied Trades Union.

This new industrial union in the radio and electric refrigerator industry has built up some 55,000 members under the aggressive leadership of James B. Carey, a young man who jumped into a field in which the old-time electrical craft unions had largely failed.

Now Carey, with a large and going organization, demands an international charter as an industrial union. The Radio and Allied Trades is now merely a federal union under direct A.F. of L. supervision.

If the international charter is granted, it will mean that this new union in a growing field will be independent.

The story of the auto unions in Detroit and the rubber unions in Akron is being told all over again.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Our bones are hard because they are made largely from calcium or lime. The average man has about four pounds of calciu in his body, most of it in bones and teeth.

While most of the body's calcium is in these structures, about one-tenth of a gram is present in each quart of blood. The calcium in the blood is extremely important for body health.

The average grow. person requires about .45 gram of calcium every day. This is about or -sixtieth of an ounce. Expectant mothers require more calcium, because the baby draws on the mother's supply for the growth of its skeleton. Nursing mothers require additional calcium so the child may secure a sufficient amount in the milk.

The child of from three to thirteen years of age requires about twice as much calcium as the average adult, about one-thirtieth of an ounce each day.

The baby at birth is calcium-poor. If its bones were as hard at the time it is born as they become later, many of them would be broken during the birth process; in fact, flexibility of the bones of the child at birth makes it possible for it to be born without too many injuries.

Best method of getting calcium into the body of the child is in the form of milk. The growing child requires a quart each day. If it gets less than that, it is likely to develop a calcium-poor condition, which will be reflected in its health.

If the normal amount of calcium in the body is greatly reduced, disturbing sympt ms appear. Among these are convulsive or spasmodic symptoms called tetany. Infants with convulsive disorders sometimes are relieved promptly by adding calcium to their diets.

Milk products also provide calcium in excellent form. One and six-tenths cubic inches of American cheese contain twenty times as much calcium as four ounces of lean beef, and twelve times as much calcium as one egg yolk.

Swiss cheese contains fourteen times as much calcium as cottage cheese, weight for weight. American Cheddar cheese contains .71 per cent of calcium; Swiss cheese, 1.05 per cent, and cottage cheese, .077 per cent.

Cheese usually contains about one-third water, one-third fat, and one-third protein. Since it is milk in concentrated form, a pound of cheese represents the amount of protein and fat available in a gallon of milk.

Other foods that are rich in calcium are asparagus, celery, spinach, peas, beans, cabbage, clams, carrots and cauliflower.

TO-DAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Is it true that persons suffering from diabetes often get gangrene?

A.—Gangrene is one of the frequent complications of diabetes, when it becomes extreme it sometimes necessitates amputation, but every effort is made to prevent it by proper treatment of the diabetic condition through diet, insulin and the like.

The archeopteryx, a bird of prehistoric times, had fingers on its wings, a flexible tail with feathers down each side, and teeth set in sockets.

Mme. Paul Dupuy.

By MORRIS GILBERT

Paris, Jan. 9.—The day after the death of her husband, Senator Paul Dupuy, Mme. Dupuy, who was formerly Helen Browne of New York City, telephoned his private secretary.

"You must help me to learn as quickly as possible all the details of Senator Dupuy's work," she said.

"But Madame knows a great deal already," the secretary answered. "She was the senator's constant adviser and aid."

"I want the details," Mme. Dupuy interposed. "The full details."

Within three weeks, the American heiress who had married the eminent French senator and publisher, was installed in the office which had formerly been her husband's and his father's before him. The details—the full details—of the largest and most powerful group of publications in France were in her hands. That was in 1928. She has not relaxed her grip since.

RICH HERITAGE

Individually, Mme. Helen Browne Dupuy directs and (with her three children) owns the Paris daily pictorial newspaper, Excelsior, with a circulation of 300,000; the monthly, Science et Vie, 100,000 circulation; Omnia, a monthly; Dimanche-Illustre, a weekly of 500,000 circulation.

She—with her children—controls the Petit Parisien, with a daily circulation of 1,700,000, the largest newspaper in France; The Miroir des Sports, a weekly sporting paper of 190,000 circulation; Cine-Miroir, a weekly movie paper of 110,000 circulation; Agriculture Nouvelle, a weekly of 56,000 circulation, and three annual almanacs.

It is a rich and complex heritage, founded more than forty years ago by the father of Senator Paul Dupuy. Jean Dupuy himself was a fearless journalist and statesman, and preceded his son as senator from Hautes Pyrenees. The political careers of father and son were virtually a dynasty. If the younger Dupuy had lived to complete his term—he died at the age of forty-nine—the senatorship from that department would have been for fifty years in the hands of father and son.

IMPORTANT SOCIALLY

Mme. Dupuy's life is rich with varied interests. Apart from her publishing activities, she has an important place in French society. Invitations to her apartment in Passy and to the Dupuy chateau at Versailles are coveted, and her hospitality is celebrated for its elegance. That means that Mme. Dupuy is enormously busy. For her interview, she chose the lounge of the Ritz Hotel just before lunchtime.

Her office anteroom is a busy place. Men of affairs come to her to consult and so do men of state. The directorship of a group of strong and influential journals, including the one with the biggest national circulation, is not to be ignored, any more than is Mme. Dupuy.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

PRUNES STAR AS DESSERT, SALAD, COCKTAIN OR FRUIT

By MARY E. DAGUE

How did prunes ever fall into disrepute, anyway? Could it have been that some rival fruit started the propaganda? Because, really, if you eat them at their best, you'll like them—for instance, as a cocktail at dinner or stuffed in salad.

Prunes are graded for market these days and so the housewife can get exactly the quality she wants. Generally speaking, the best grades are the cheapest in the long run because they contain the least stones. There are ten sizes, varying from 20-30s to 110-120s, the figure referring to the number of prunes to the pound.

If you order 20-30s you will expect to find twenty to thirty large prunes in each pound. If you get 110 to 120 prunes to the pound they will be very small. Medium sized prunes averaging forty to fifty to the pound are suitbale for most purposes. But if the prunes are to be served or cut up the small ones are just as good. It is worth knowing that although the number of pits is greater in the small size prunes, there is more meat for the money in a pound of small prunes than there is in a pound of large ones.

California almost exclusively produces sweet prunes which have firm, sweet flesh and consequently need little sugar in cooking. The tart prunes usually are grown in Washington and Oregon. These prunes average larger in size, carry larger pits and ordinarily require more sugar in cooking.

Prune bavarian cream is a nourishing dessert that will be a fitting end for dinner that is lacking in protein calories. When meat is used principally for flavor such a dessert brings the meal up to the necessary standard of balance.

PRUNE BAVARIAN CREAM

One tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 4 table spoons scalded milk ½ cup sugar, whites 2 eggs, 1 pint whipping cream, 1 cup cooked and chopped prunes, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Soften gealtin in cold water for five minutes. Add scalded milk and dissolve. Add sugar and stir over ice water until mixture begins to thicken. Add whites of eggs beaten until stiff, cream whipped until firm, salt, vanilla and prunes. Mix lightly and turn into a mold which has been garnished with perfect halves of cooked prunes. Let stand on ice until chilled and firm. Unmold and serve with custard sauce.

CUSTARD SAUCE

One and one-half cups milk, 2 egg yolks, 4 tablespoons sugar, few grains salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat yolks with sugar and salt. Scald milk and slowly pour over egg mixture. Return to top of double boiler and cook and stir over hot water until custard coats a metal spoon. Pour immediately into a cold pitcher and let stand until cool. Flavor with vanilla just before serving.

A hearty vegetable soup with hot Parkerhouse rolls and prune bavarian cream furnishes a goodly amount of nourishment and makes an inexpensive and appetizing winter evening meal.

HEARTY VEGETABLE SOUP

Choose a soup bone with considerable meat. Put it into soup kettle and cover with cold water. Bring slowly to the boiling point and simmer three hours. An hour before serving, add vegetables, beginning with those which take the longest to cook. Season well with salt and pepper when vegetables are added. Use potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage, onions, carrots and green beans. Don't cut the potatoes and cabbage into too small pieces. This is a version of the boiled dinner although vegetables predominate and meat is used chiefly for its appetizing flavor.

SCOUT NEWS

The first Langford Scout troop pack will resume their meetings on Friday at their headquarters at Marshwood. Wolf Cubs are asked to meet at 3.15, Scouts at 7.30, and Rovers at 7.45 o'clock.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

Buddy McGinnis had just raised his head over the fourth floor window sill. He rested his gun on the sill again and fired his remaining shots at the car; but although this was a target altogether too big to miss the bullies seemed o have no effect. At any rate, the big car sped down the street, its motor roaring to a high crescendo, took a corner on two wheels, and disappeared.

In the car the wounded man slumped back against the cushions, his lips bloodless. The red-haired man bent over him and pulled back his coat.

"Got you, eh?" he said. The wounded man nodded.

"Bad?"

"Don't think so," came the reply, the words faint and labored. "I can use my arms . . . and I'm not spittin' any blood. . . . Only I'm getting . . . weak . . ."

Cursing softly, the other man wadded two handkerchiefs together to make a compress and ripped the shirt open to get at the wound.

In the town there was the kind of confusion that prevails when you withdraw a destructive stick from one of the busier ant hills.

The people who had been on the street during the holdup had, naturally, dodged behind parked cars or ducked off down alleys when the shooting began. Now they all came streaming toward the bank—to stop, most of them, in a horror-struck circle about the fallen policeman, who still lay quite motionless. Someone had turned him over and unbuttoned his collar at the throat; someone else was bending over him; others were crowding near, looking on and feeling slightly sick at the stomach, while there arose a steady buzz of confused and anxious questions from all sides: "Is he dead?" "Did somebody go for a doctor?" "Where'd they go?" "What happened, anyhow?"

Inside the bank there was less confusion, chiefly because there were fewer people there. Mr. Dunn led the trembling stenographer to the door and instructed her to tell everybody to stay outside. Then, with the farmer—who was finding, to his secret shame, that his chief emotion was one of relief at the fact that the robbers had not bothered to take his own money away from him—he went back behind the grille to see about Mr. Hobart.

Mr. Hobart still lay where he had fallen. His head was in a pool of blood, and it had got in his sparse grey hair and made him look rather dreadful; but Mr. Dunn knelt beside him and discovered, with joy in his heart, that the man was still alive. He and the farmer carried the wounded man into Mr. Dunn's office and laid him on a leather couch, and then Mr. Dunn reached for a telephone and hurriedly called a doctor, while the farmer soaked a handkerchief in water at the cooler in the corner of the room and bathed Mr Hobart's forehead with clumsy tenderness.

The young clerk who had been slugged into unconsciousness came to and sat up groggily, his head wobbling a little. He raised one hand and touched his aching temple gingerly, said, "Oooooh" in a low, shaky voice, and tried to remember just what had happened. By the time the first of the half dozen people who had managed to jam their way past the quaking stenographer at the door came into the bank, he was trying to get to his feet. Someone came back of the grille and helped him, and he found himself the focal point for a dozen eager questions, which ranged all the way from "How do you feel?" to "What happened?"

The doctor came, presently, to attend to Mr. Hobart; and Mr. Dunn managed to recruit an informal committee to keep the crowd out of the bank, call the sheriff, take the stenographer home, and so on, while he himself made a hasty check of the extent of the bank's losses.

An hour later order was restored. Mr. Hobart was taken home. By a lucky chance, the bandit's bullet had only creased his skull. He was suffering a good deal of pain and he would carry a rather prominent scar for the rest of his life, but he would live. The policeman had not been so lucky. Three bullets had smashed into his chest, and he was dead.

The young clerk had nothing worse than a painful bruise, a bad headache—and a topic of conversation that would keep him going for the next two years.

Mr. Dunn sat in his office talking with the county sheriff, who had hurried over from the county seat twelve miles away.

"There's nothing more we can do now," said the sheriff, folding his notebook. "There's nothing much we can do at all, for that matter. It's a lead-pipe cinch they're out of the county by this time. I've got one of my deputies over at the telephone office, calling all the cities and towns around here telling 'em to be on the lookout, and a car full of the boys are out on the road chasing these birds.

"But shucks! We've got one chance in a hundred. We don't even know for sure what road those fellows left on. We got their license number, but if they don't stop out in the country somewhere and change plates, I miss my guess. We're just helpless on a thing like this, Mr. Dunn."

Mr. Dunn nodded agreement.

"There's nothing much we can do," he admitted. After a brief pause he said, "I had hoped, when we got that tear gas installed, that we'd be safe. You see, all Hobart had to do was step on a button, and the gas would have stopped them. But he never had a chance. That man shot him before he could move."

The sheriff bit the end off a cigar, spat it out in the general direction of a waste basket, and began to smoke.

"No, we're licked in these small towns—licked before we start," he said. "The only wonder is that they don't rob more of these banks. There's nothing much to stop 'em, as far as I can see."

He brooded over this for a moment. Then he looked up suddenly.

"Listen," he said, "I tell you what: put in a call for the Department of Justice men in Dover. You're a Federal Reserve bank, aren't you?" Well, robbery of a Federal Reserve bank is a federal offence. Get the government men busy on it."

Mr. Dunn reached for a telephone.

"I wish I'd thought of that sooner," he said. "The head of the Dover office is a Maplehurst man—Larry Glenn. I've known him since he was a baby."

Larry had just got back from lunch when the call came in. It had been a quiet day, and the sunlight on the pavement was beguiling; so much so that it made him think of the baseball park, and he was just reviewing the current state of affairs in his mind, to see whether he would be justified in "sneaking off to the ball game," when his telephone bell tinkled.

"Maplehurst is calling. Will you hold the wire?" said the operator. He waited; then came Mr. Dunn's voice, to tell him about the robbery.

Thoughts of the ball game fled from Larry's brain—not to re-enter it until many an eventful day had passed. He drew a scratch pad over to him and made notes as, with swift questions, he got from Mr. Dunn the salient features of the case. At last he hung up, pushed his chair back and strode to the next room. Agents Tony LaRocco and Al Peters looked up expectantly.

"Get your hats," said Larry. "We're taking a run down to Maplehurst. Looks like Red Jackson has blown himself to another bank robbery."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1936

Good luck attends many human activities under this configuration, according to astrology. It is fortunate for beginnings of many sorts, especially for whatever concerns the arts.

America is to attain world fame through the talents of natives of the United States, it is predicted. In sculpture and music supreme attainments are forecast.

Merchants now will have reason to rejoice, if the stars are wisely interpreted, because they will discover that the Christmas buying has given lasting impetus to trade. The post-holiday sag should be less definite than expected.

Girls should make the most of every hour under this rule of the stars, which encourages appreciation of their charms. It is an auspicious aspect for engagements to marry.

It has been prognosticated that the middle-aged and even the old will be susceptible to love. Widows may be especially alluring this year. Weddings will multiply.

Science will enlist women as well as men in research work devising superinventions effective in preventing future wars. Amazing attainments through radio and television are foretold.

Astrologers prognosticate many forgeries and thefts, embezzlements and robberies—which banks are the victims. The year will be marked by numerous crimes among persons of prominence.

Need of money will impel many persons toward deceit and indirection that affect even their friends. The seers warn against the misuse of social contacts.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of profit and progress. For certain persons sensational experiences are indicated. These may include divorce suits.

Children born on this day probably will be quick-witted and keenly active in whatever interests them. Subjects of this sign usually persist in the pursuit of any goal.

Ethan Allen, soldier, was born on this day, 1737. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Theodore L. Cuyler, clergyman and writer, 1822.

Extra Funds For Gloria Vanderbilt

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 9. — Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt spent $6,000 more than the $48,000 allowed her by the courts for the maintenance of her little heiress daughter, Gloria, during 1935, she told Surrogate James Foley yesterday.

Surrogate Foley ordered George W. Wickersham and Thomas Gilchrist, guardians of the daughter's estate, to show cause why they should not pay the bills.

OLD NUMBERS GIVE PLEASURE

Musical Arts Programme Last Night Included 17th Century Music

By G. J. D.

Recapturing the spirit of older days and blending with that of present day, the recital provided by the Victoria Musical Arts Society, which took place yesterday evening at the Empress Hotel was a particularly happy one with music of much charm and sincere delight.

The programme was built up of compositions of the seventeenth and twentieth centuries music, the tunes of the former century, that do not grow musty with time, so perennially fresh and attractive are they, and the latter century music built up perhaps more scientifically and of greater technical material made contrasts that proved arresting, informative and singularly pleasing.

EARLY PERIOD

It began with the early period music, represented by Henry Purcell (1658 to 1695), John Dowland (1562 to 1628), Handel (1685 to 1759), John Benet (— 1614), and Alessandro Scarlatti (1659 to 1725).

Purcell always sounds better than he looks, and he treats his instruments as valued friends, and his voices as if it was them alone he was waiting to listen to. In the song "Man is for Woman Made," sung by Harry S. Hay, and again in the additional number "Nymphs and Shepherds," we had strong life, and real English charm, both executed with the charm and style of the early period. Equally pleasing was the Dowland song, "Fine Knacks for Ladies," where there, too, was no rambling and no straight-lacing.

But why did Mr. Hay select the modern "The Fiddler of Dooney," (Thomas Dunhill) in his group, the three of which, however, he sang easily and freely, showing regard for the music rather than any big vocal effort. He was accompanied well by George H. Peaker.

The First United Church Madrigal Group of six females and four men's voices, in John Benet's "All Creatures Now are Merry-minded," and "Just as the Tide was Slowing," (arranged by Vaughan Williams), as also the Purcell number, gave an excellent performance; correct and free, confident and subtle, begotten of a studied intelligent acquaintance with charming music.

Kathleen Redgrave Lavell evidently is a most conscientious student-artist. She has a gracious manner of expression, and she sings well on her note—delightfully true were her top notes—and the perfectly clear tone of a nice soprano voice was most pleasing, her excellent accompanist, Eileen Dumbleton, rendering sympathetic support.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson's perfect control of her lovely soprano voice, and musicianly treatment of her songs continue to give delight. Again yesterday she won success in a group, two of which are by the famous organist, Pietro Yon, heard here recently, "Jesu Bambino," and "O Faithful Cross," and her first number, "No Lullaby Need Mary Sing," (Clokey), following which she was compelled to add another number. Eileen Dumbleton acted as her accompanist.

Mrs. Gladys Slark has a warm contralto voice, and with considerable vocal charm sang La Forge's "Hills"; in the accompaniment the hills seemingly were heavy with floating mists; "The Ships of Arcady" by Michael Head, was the best effort of her group, the third "Who is Sylvia," (Roger Quilter) though nicely given, hardly came up to expectations commensurate with its title. Mrs. Minnie Barter lent able support at the piano.

PIANO DUETS

One of the most interesting features of the evening proved the two piano duets from William Walton's five-styled "Facade," with spoken words from poems of Edith Sitwell, given by Nellie Scowcroft, speaker, and Miriam Beals and Helen Ockenden, as the pianists. This was most effective and the music particularly appropriate to the spoken works.

The two solo pianists attracted by their admirable playing considerable attention and interest, in that the one, Grace Genn, is about to set forth for further study abroad and the other, Helen Ockenden, is now very favorably known since returning home from her studies at Toronto.

In their respective groups, there was an admirable pianistic sense; that is, they do not hold the keyboard as if it is under arrest but rather they are on excellent terms of intimacy, and they evinced personality, born of optimism, imagination and temperament; especially may these be said of Miss Ockenden.

Miss Genn selected Handel's Suit in D minor, in which she imbued the music with splendid clarity, even if her playing was on too level a performance and her chance certainly was in the contrasting "Allemande" and "Courante," but the final "Presto" rippled along in good style.

Miss Ockenden was heard in a group of four numbers, "Sevilla," (Albeniz), "The White Peacock," (after the style of Debussy), by T. E. Griffes, "Noel," (Balfour Gardiner), quite Christmassy with the embodiment of "Good King Wenceslas" and York Bowen's formidable "Toccato." Miss Ockenden's technique radiates, but it is felt that this was applied on occasions a little two heavily, and it is asked if she does not think herself that the "White Peacock," was not sufficiently delicate, and the "Toccatto" not clearly defined; the group, however, as pianism, was a fine achievement, deserving the prolonged applause she received at its conclusion.

Reports on Christmas activities, together with expressions of thanks from various recipients of gifts from the League, occupied much of the attention of the Victoria Sub-division of the Catholic Women's League yesterday evening. Mrs. Blair Reid presided.

Further reports included that of Mrs. Gillis on visiting at Jubilee Hospital and Mrs. D'Arcy Danes for St. Joseph's. During the current month, Mrs. Lennox will visit Jubilee Hospital and Mrs. Mahoney St. Joseph's. The educational report was given by Mrs. Ebbs-Canavan, who told of the home economics course at the Y.W. C. A. for girls.

The social welfare report by Miss Harriet O'Brien showed that clothes had been distributed to needy persons and positions found for several girls; also, that toys repaired by the Boy Scouts had been collected and distributed in the Christmas hampers.

Tribute was paid by the Subdivision to the late Miss Wigley, former head of the Women's Workroom. A vote of sympathy to the bereaved relatives was moved and regret expressed at the passing of such an indefatigable worker among the sick and needy of Victoria.

Mrs. J. J. O'Brien will act as magazine convener for the present session. A vote of thanks was given Miss V. Babington for her extra work during the bazaar and during the Christmas rush.

On January 25, the league will hold a card party at Spencer's dining-room, under the conveneship of Mrs. A. J. Morry. The activities for February will include a Valentine card party at the home of Mrs. Fletcher, Heywood Avenue, to be convened by Mrs. Hornsby, and a lecture by Bishop MacDonald.

Piano Pupils Had Christmas Party

An enjoyable Christmas tree party was held recently at 1249 Rockland Avenue at the home of Miss D. E. Moore, L.A.B., for fifty children, including piano class pupils from Sir James Douglas and Bank Street Schools and her own junior private pupils.

Many amusing games were played, after which tea was served.

Several carols were sung, accompanied by various pupils. "O Come All Ye Faithful" was played by Enid Browne for her brother Ted, who sang one verse and played another on a xylophone; "While Shepherds Watched" was was played by Carol Watson, with Peggy Butterfield as the soloist; "The First Noel," played by Phyllis Harwood, and solo by Peggy Butterfield, with choruses played on bells and triangles by several boys; "Silent Night," played by Margaret Humphreys, with her little sister, Nancy, as soloist. The Boys' Band then played a rhythmic band number, "Sleigh Bells."

Many visitors and parents enjoyed most thoroughly this little entertainment feature. After dancing round the room to the tune of "Jingle Bells" and shaking bells, the children were given their gifts from the tree and left for home.

As Miss Moore had been indisposed Mrs. Schade and her daughter, Alda, Mrs. Holden and daughter, Joan-Daphne Simmons, and the following pupils, Phyllis Harwood, Enid Browne, Peggy Butterfield, Margaret Humphreys, Carol Watson and Dorothy Wiles, took entire charge of the party.

She thanked YORKSHIRE RELISH for the nicest flavored Veal Croquettes she ever made

HER veal croquettes were such a success everyone wanted the recipe! The secret was the flavoring — just a dash of Yorkshire Relish.

Nowadays you don't use the herbs and roots your grandmother used to give tasty flavor to cooking. Today you get intriguing flavor simply by using Yorkshire Relish. Add a dash to all your meat dishes — corned beef hash, croquettes, meatloaf, stews. Yorkshire Relish turns an ordinary meal into an event everyone will enjoy and remember.

A bottle of Yorkshire Relish takes four years to make! 20 carefully selected ingredients — fruits, vegetables, herbs, spices, essences — are measured and blended with test tube accuracy, then allowed to mature for four years to give you this rich, fruity sauce.

In addition to the delicious flavor Yorkshire Relish gives the aromatic herbs and spices it contains are a definite aid to digestion.

Try its taste before you cook

Try this and see how flavorful YorkshireRelish is. Pour a few drops into a teaspoon, then sip it. What flavor! Hot, yet sweet; no other sauce can impart such delicious flavor to your cooking.

RECIPE for Veal Croquettes

1 cup cold roast veal finely chopped. Pepper, salt. Onion juice. Yorkshire Relish. 2 tablespoons crumbs. 1 tablespoon melted butter. 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten.

Season veal with salt, pepper, onion juice and Yorkshire Relish; add remaining ingredients, shape in small croquettes pointed at ends. Roll in flour, egg, and crumbs and fry.

WORLD PEACE IS DISCUSSED

Prof. E. S. Farr Is Speaker at Convention of Christian Witness

The third meeting of the "Convention of Christian Witness" was held yesterday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Rev. C. G. Mackenzie presided.

Professor E. S. Farr spoke on "The Christian Witness in International Affairs." In discussing the League of Nations he said it was saddled at the outset with a disastrous load in "the Peace Treaty." It sought to promote co-operation, and had done much good. As regards preventing war, it had done much, with some failures. Exercise of world public opinion was of great importance in the welfare of the League, he said.

Too much concern existed to-day with rights, not with duties, he thought.

The speaker mentioned world governments. "We are seeking too often, not duties. There is too much efficiency, seeking power under the guise of service. We are crusaders, not Christians. Nationalism is rampart in its externals," he said.

The church could not neglect its duties to the world to-day, but service and power were being sought more than wisdom and development of character. In the words of Micah vi, 8, "Justice, mercy and humility were needed to solve world problems" to-day.

Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, minister of Chown United Church, Vancouver, also spoke. "Christian contact and influence in international affairs belong to Christian statesmanship, more than to Christian sentiment," he said.

The world demanded thoroughness and reality in religion to-day. "We have hearkened after ideals and neglected immediate steps leading towards those ideals, especially is this so of world peace," he said. A pacifism willing to face the issue as fully as militarism would always command respect, but may difficulties confronted pacifism.

Conditions in the nations themselves were the "basic cause" of international discord to-day, economic and social. Christian witness had to deal with these things; it was not served by ethical teaching in the abstract, nor by a nicely balanced neutrality.

The appeal of Christian truth to the conscience of mankind was needed. "Christians are ambassadors of God," he said.

True evangelism alone would move the world to-day, an evangelism filled with Christ's power, righteousness and seeking after universal brotherhood and peace.

This evening Dr. Willard Brewing, St. Andrew's-Wesley United Church, Vancouver, will speak on "The Christian in the Modern State."

GIRL MUSHING ON LONG TRIP

Mary Joyce Traveling From Taku to Fairbanks Alone

Associated Press

Atlin, B.C., Jan. 9.—Miss Mary Joyce, twenty-seven, traveling alone with her dog sled team, arrived from Tulsequah, B.C., yesterday, on her 1,000-mile trip from Taku to Fairbanks.

She is making the trip "just for the experience," and left the Twin Glaciers Lodge on the Taku River December 20, arriving at Tulsequah December 28. She expects to reach Fairbanks within two months.

The diminutive hunting lodge proprietor—she's pretty and about five feet four inches tall and weighs but 115 pounds—reported she had to break trail through heavy snow from Tulsequah, but succeeded in beating her twenty-day estimated time here by nine days.

Reports from Tulsequah said she had intended to get an Indian escort to Atlin, but the natives refused to venture out until later, as they considered winter trail too dangerous with the ice full of treacherous holes and thin places.

Final Decree To-morrow For Mary Pickford Causes Speculation

Canadian Press

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 9.—Movieland speculated to-day on whether Mary Pickford will marry again after her divorce from Douglas Fairbanks Sr., becomes final to-morrow.

Gossip has linked her name romantically with that of Charles (Buddy) Rogers, the dark-haired actor and orchestra leader from Olathe, Kas.

Miss Pickford emphatically has refused to discuss her friendship with Rogers, who has scoffed at reports of an impending marriage, while declaring "I would be proud to 'admit' it if it were true."

But that was before Miss Pickford's freedom was absolute. Just a year ago to-morrow, she was granted an interlocutory degree of divorce, ending filmland's "perfect union" after fifteen years.

More recently, Rogers said there would be no marriage between him and Mary Brian, pretty actress who used to be his constant companion.

Just now, the movie colony is awaiting Fairbank's next move, half-expecting a repetition of some of his dramatic gestures toward reconciliation in the past.

Fairbanks, who landed in New York this week, said he would fly immediately to Hollywood to begin production of a new picture, but refused to discuss his heart interest, Miss Pickford, or Lady Sylvia Ashley, whom he left in England.

Permanent Wave As Aid to Sanity

Associated Press

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 9.—The permanent wave was recognized to-day as an aid to women's sanity.

Curling the hair of female patients at the Illinois State Hospital for the insane proved so effective in helping restore their mental balance that a whole building was set aside for a beauty parlor, Supt. Robert Smith disclosed in an interview.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IF YOUR CHILD IS WELL FED, HE WILL BE FINICKY

The hungry, underfed child is in no position to quibble about whether his porridge is sticky or lumpy, or his vegetables tasteless. He eats what is put before him thankfully. But the well-fed child early develops preferences for foods and distastes for consistencies which may make feeding him more difficult.

Almost all children dislike a food which seems "slimy," as does partially cooked white of egg. They balk at stringy vegetables or sometimes mushy, soft fruits. Some may spit out or choke on any food which is thicker than a liquid, or refuse to eat their meals unless each food stands out distinct and identifiable.

RESPECT DISTASTES

These distastes cannot be "talked out" of the child. They had better be respected. Hard-cooked white of egg will be acceptable, or the egg may be used in combinations, rather than served as a separate food. The addition of crisp celery to the fruit may alter the whole consistency of a salad. Vegetables for the older child may be served whole, or chopped raw and made into sandwiches, or mixed with potato or meat, if they are disliked when served alone.

Our leaflet, "Helping the Child Who Chokes On Thick Foods," will give the mother some suggestions for dealing with this unhappy situation. It may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

BE CAREFUL

When the child spends his time shoving one food away from the other, serve his meal on a partitioned plate, in which each food has its own place.

Be careful in serving cereal a second time that the tough crust which forms when it is cold, is removed before re-heating.

Some of these evidences of personal discrimination are bound to crop up and can be tactfully overcome rather than scornfully disregarded.

TO SEEK NEW APPLICATIONS

No Appointment of City School Doctor Made; Full Time Job

Applications received to date for the position of school doctor in Victoria will be returned and new ones will be called following the insertion in the daily papers of advertisements explaining more fully the duties of that official.

Decision to take that course was reached by the city school board at its meeting yesterday evening. It was learned some applicants had considered the post as one calling for only part time activity.

The advertisements will inform prospective applicants they must devote their entire time to the work and will say the present salary of the school health officer is $2,700 a year.

A special committee composed of Trustee W. C. Moresby, chairman of the board, and George H. Deane, municipal inspector, will interview the provincial authorities to determine the feasibility of extending the general medical service previously given in schools to a broader programe of health.

Approval of the provincial health officer will also be required before any applicant is given the post.

Applications will be called for January 22 and the board will meet that evening to pick out a successor to Dr. David Donald, who retired at the end of last year.

EXIT PLAY MAKES HAND

Declarer Avoids Extra Losing Trick by Deceiving One Opponent and Throwing Lead to Other

By WM. E. McKENNEY

This is the second hand described by F. P. Perkins of Boston, in a recent article in the British Bridge Magazine, entitled, "Stripping Them Down." As Perkins states, quite often there is a defence to the exit play and, while it is not as well known as the play itself to most participants, the opportunity for its use presents itself quite often.

Take for example to-day's hand. Declarer has lost two heart tricks and it looks as if he must lose two club tricks. However, if he is fortunate enough to find one of his opponents with either queen-x or king-x, the hand can be made.

The ordinary player would immediately pick up the trumps, cash the ace and king of diamonds, ruff a diamond, and then ruff out the losing heart. Now, when he plays his ace of clubs, West would be smart enough to throw his king on the ace.

However, if declarer were to play the hand in the following fashion, he would probably catch West napping:

When West shifts to the jack of diamonds, the trick should be won with the ace. The jack of spades should be led as if the declarer planned to take a finesse, but should be taken by the king in dummy.

Then declarer should lead back a small club from dummy, putting up the ace. Now you will admit that West in most cases will fail to throw his king on this trick.

Of course, if he does not, declarer will strip the hand of hearts and diamonds, pick up the trump, then lead a small club, locking West in, and the hand is made.

MOVE TO RAISE PENSION RATES

Old age pension should be raised from $20 a month to $30 and every person reaching the age of sixty-five should automatically be eligible to receive such a pension instead of having to wait until he or she is seventy, as required now.

Such were the conclusion reached by members of Ward Four Liberal Association at their meeting at Liberal headquarters yesterday evening under Chairman H. J. Applegate.

The meeting was thrown open to a consideration of the whole civil and veterans' pension situation. Some of the members approached the principles of the Townsend plan in their suggestions of what should be done here to correct social evils.

DISCUSS WAR PENSIONERS

J. R. Green urged that war veterans with 100 per cent diability pensions should not be allowed to hold posts in any government. He also urged that war widows with generous pensions should not hold down good jobs in town. He said that both these classes of persons were adding to the unemployment difficulties by filling jobs which they themsevles did not need and thus keeping others in necessitous circumstances out of work.

Mr. Green also advocated that 60 per cent disability pensions should be automatically raised to 100 per cent, so that all those who receive them would be taken off the congested labor market.

The proposals of Mr. Green were endorsed by the meeting and E. Kean and A. Tuckwell were appointed to draw up a report for further action.

To investigate the old age pension siuation a committee was appointed of A. B. McNeil, J. Wood, C. G. White and Alderman Andrew McGavin.

It is planned to get some action on the pensions matters because of the general feeling that the unemployment difficulty can be eased through them.

Resolutions covering the proposals will be drafted to go from Ward Four to the higher organizations to bring about political action.

LUMBER TRADE SHOWN IN FILM

The lumber industry, from the felling of the trees right up to the exportation of the cut lumber from the mills, was described to the Revellers' Club last night by Douglas Flintoff, and illustraded awith moving pictures.

The occasion was the club's installation dinner in Speedie's Cafe. Officers installed were: Ronald J. E. Kay, president; H. D. Genn, vice-president; J. H. B. Watson, secretary, and K. J. Davis, treasurer.

Mr. Flintoff first told of the extensive use of motion pictures in educational work, and how 250 schools in Canada were equipped with projectors. Silent pictures, he said, were more popular with schools than talkies, as comment could be supplied to suit the various grades.

He described every sage of the lumber industry from logging camp to the docks, and told of his experiences in traveling all over the province showing pictures to schools.

Canon A. E. deL. Nunns was welcomed as an honorary member of the club, and Ellis Jones as a member.

CORNISH PENNY BELIEVED RARE

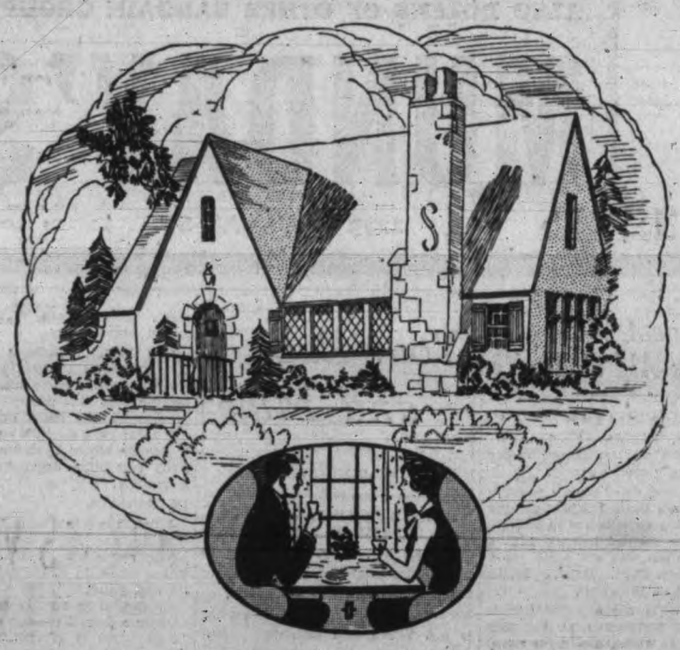
Detective J. H. Rogers Has Unusual Piece of Old Country Money Dated 1811

What he believes is a rare Cornish penny in British Columbia is owned by Detective Jack H. Rogers of the city police force, who to-day joined the increasing army of interested coin collectors.

Detective Rogers's coin is dated 1811, and on one side it has the Cornish coat of arms, the fish, tin and copper, with the words "For the Accommodation of the County."

On the other side is pictured a mine head with the words "Cornish Penny, 1811."

While not a coin expert, Detective Rogers was interested in knowing whether or not there was any one among the Cornish colony of Victoria who possessed one of these old money pieces. He has made some inquiries himself and has been thus far unable to locate one.



"The HOME and RING and EVERYTHING"

Well, not exactly everything . . . you'll have to supply the bride, but just about everything else it takes to make wedded bliss is listed in The Times Classified Ads.

It doesn't matter what your idea of a home is—big or small, expensive or very inexpensive—you'll find just what you want.

One of the nicest things about it, too, is the fact that there are so many things advertised which fit into the schemes and needs of people who've been married long enough to have formulated definite plans as to what a home should be. Contractors, decorators, plumbers, painters, roofers, they all have messages of importance for everyone with an interest in homes.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

not shrink from the only right answer?

The answer that he gave has tempted many to point at the League the finger of scorn—another of its failures?—nay, a proof of its inherent hypocrisy!

But the root of the trouble lies neither with Sir Samuel nor the League. It is we who have made them our scapegoats.

For a League of Nations is only an instrument—an invaluable, indeed an indispensable instrument—for preventing international warfare and promoting international welfare; but an instrument capable of improvement. And like all instruments, however efficient, it can be used for good or ill.

The prime reason for this temporary rebuff lies not with the League of Nations, but with the nations of the League, that is with the individuals that compose them, and still more, with the nations not of the League. For the recent reverse has made clear that the strength and value of the League is according to the extent and sincerity of its support. There will be no more unjust aggression of nation upon nation if the weight of the world is against the aggressor. The League is an instrument for effecting this purpose. The aggressor must face an overwhelming union against him.

The British government's lead has wavered because three of the mightiest nations are not members of the League, and, of the member nations, only one was on the spot to support its vote with deeds, should any country be attacked.

As the alternative to international co-operation is international conflict (and modern war means mass murder, irrespective of age or sex), and as this work of co-operation depends entirely on efforts of individuals on its behalf, there results the inescapable individual duty of supporting, strengthening and perfecting the one great peace organization that others have built up for us. To assist the League of Nations in this way there are several League of Nations associations in different countries, such as in Britain the League of Nations Union, in the U.S.A. the League of Nations Association, and in Canada the League of Nations Society, of which the British Columbia branch has its headquarters at Victoria. The object of these associations is to enable individuals to co-operate in engineering world harmony.

Those who feel their responsibility in this respect and send names and addresses to the treasurer, the League of Nations Society, 1006 Government Street, Victoria, and $1 (or even 25c) subscription, get in return a membership card and the society's literature.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

JANUARY 9, 1911
(From The Times Files)

Though there was nothing spectacular about the civic nominations which took place to-day in the police court room of the City Hall before the returning officer, Wm. W. Northcott, a couple of surprises were furnished in the appearance of a dark horse in the aldermanic contest in Ward One and the retirement from the field which he had only entered on Saturday of George Oliver, who was to have been a candidate in the same ward.

Victoria Lining Up Swimmers For British Columbia Title Meet

THE SPORTS MIRROR

MUCH HAS been written and much more will be added to the debate on the dismissal of the four Halifax Wolverines from the Canadian Olympic hockey team before the question is finally settled. It is a fair prediction no satisfactory settlement will ever be reached.

From fragmentary reports which have filtered through to the Coast, the trouble appears to have arisen out of the request of the Halifax players for living expenses for their families while they attended the games. The mere suggestion of seeking pecuniary gain for their services with the Canucks seems to have settled their hash as far as the Olympic group is concerned.

There appears to be something more to the problem than the suggestion of monetary returns for playing. If the fact that a true amateur shall not secure some remuneration is the deciding issue, it seems strange that the C.A.H.A. officials should invite Jimmy Haggarty, now resident in London, England, to play for the team.

While details of Haggarty's sojourn in the Old Country are not known locally, it is a fair supposition to believe he is playing in England because he has been given some inducement to play away from his native heath. If he has not taken that feature into consideration, certainly other Canadians operating in English leagues have. Some at least are using their hockey to secure good jobs, even as athletes in various parts of Canada are employing the same means to secure employment.

On that basis, it would appear that true amateurism is being defeated. The question naturally arises in the minds of those not familiar with all the details of the Wolverines' dismissal—is this just another hollowly hypocritical show of simon purity?

Another query which inevitably follows is—shall Canada be represented by the best it can produce in the sport in the amateur recruits, or shall its colors be carried only by those who can afford the luxury of attending the Olympic Games?

With their hearts set on a more favorable showing against Varsity, than they have made in recent years flying "Y" tracksters are working out regularly in the association gym. As they whirl around the half-pint indoor track, several are displaying potentialities which warm the cockles of Coach Archie McKinnon's heart

In a trial last week Bill Dale, fast coming high school half-miler, reeled off the eight-eighty in a fraction over two minutes and ten seconds. With intensive training during the early summer, McKinnon expects him to break two minutes for the half mile. That should earn him a trip east for the Canadian trials. And if competition down there steps him up a little more, he may stand a chance of national rating this year.

So far this season the Victoria Dominoes, Dominion basketball champions, have not had very much stiff opposition, with one exception, this being the initial major encounter of the season, when the local squad finished in a 40 to 40 tie with the Knights of Columbus, Seattle, after three five-minute overtime periods.

The tussles since that game have not been nearly as exciting. The popularity of the Dominoes-K. of C. encounter has spread over a wide area and fans are urging Frank Elliott, secretary of the Victoria and District Basketball League, to arrange another match between the teams. Frank stated recently that a return match is now in the making.

With a lively second line to back them up, the Dominoes are rated in some quarters much stronger this season than last. Alex. McKeachie, Alex. Kinnear, Jack Mottishaw and Ollie Goldsmith, Dominoes reserves, have shown themselves to be good ball handlers during the season's engagements.

Art Chapman, lanky tip-off, is top scorer on the Dominoes team during the six games that have been played with out-of-town aggregations. His total number of points is 77. Albert "Red" Martin, shifty forward, is runner-up with 47 points. Pork Andrews is third with 31 points, while Goldsmith, new addition to the team this season, comes fourth with 25 points.

* * *

Chuck Chapman, stalwart guard, may not have done so well in the scoring line, but he has turned in a marvelous performance in the defence position, foiling many a good attempt at his hoop.

City Expected To Be Represented By Dozen On Mainland

First of Home-and-home Galas Will Be Held in Vancouver on January 25

RETURN EVENTS HERE FEBRUARY

Victoria clubs expect to send about a dozen swimmers against the pick of Vancouver natators in the first of the home-and-home British Columbia championship galas on the mainland on January 25, it was learned from authoritative circles to-day.

Actual composition of the squad will not be known until further tryouts have been held, but indications pointed to a well rounded team making the trip in quest of provincial laurels against highly regarded Vancouver performers.

The Victoria Y.M.C.A., winner of the majority of Vancouver Island Swimming League meets here, will probably be limited to two performers, Don Davidson, backstroke ace, who has risen to a point where he rates among the best in his specialty in the province, and Harris Munsie, speedy freestyle sprinter who has managed to keep ahead of the field in most of the short distance events here.

V.A.S.C. PROSPECTS

The Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, coached by Colin McFadyen, will probably use Monica Trump, Canadian breaststroke champion, Bobby Ross, outstanding young freestyle junior, Yvonne Squire, breaststroke performer, and one or two others in its bid for honors.

From the Pacific Club will go Molly Wallis, junior Canadian record claimant, and Eleanor Peden, Lilian Stokes and Mary Doidge. Harry Andison, Vic Little, Bev. Honor and Ernie Peden are prospective male challengers in the various sections of the meet.

An intensive training grind is expected to be inaugurated shortly to bring the performers up to their peak in time for the event.

VANCOUVER ARRANGEMENTS

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—The first Victoria-Vancouver inter-city swimming gala, to be held here on January 25, will be featured by 200 and 400 yards freestyle sprints for men and women, the committee in charge announced yesterday.

These events, which were awarded to Victoria last year, will be held here along with the Bennett Trophy races. The Bennett Trophies will be limited to Mainland sprinters and will not change hands unless the record is broken.

A return gala will be held in Victoria some time in February.

A special committee was appointed at Tuesday night's meeting to consider the advisability of staging British Columbia events for juvenile swimmers.

England Seeks Dropped Wolves

Halifax, Jan. 9.—Playing berths with a hockey team in England were offered to-day to Ernie Mosher and "Chummie" Lawlor, former Halifax Wolverines dropped from Canada's Olympic team Tuesday for asserted money demands.

Clint Benedict, former National Hockey League star and now coach of Wembley Canadians, cabled a friend in Halifax to ask the two Wolves if they would join his team. The proposition was that they would receive business jobs in England, with no salary for their hockey services.

The pair had no immediate answer for Benedict.

Canadian Press

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 9.—The veteran Billy Hudson of Pittsburgh Shamrocks threatened today to take over scoring leadership of the International Hockey League. Hudson was only four points behind the pacemaker, Gordon Pettinger of Detroit Olympics, now playing for the National League Red Wings.

Scoring a goal and an assist yesterday evening as Shamrocks dropped a 4 to 3 decision to Cleveland Falcons, Hudson boosted his total to 23, compared with Pettinger's 27. The Pittsburgh star tops all marksmen with fifteen goals.

Owens of the Shamrocks received a ten-minute misconduct penalty in the third period for protesting a penalty against a team-mate, and in addition was fined $15 by Referee Mickey Ion.

In the wild second period when five goals were scored, Referee Ion handed out fourteen penalties. The game was held up for minutes on end as the players argued with the officials and fought among themselves. No major penalties were imposed, but Rusty Hughes, Scotty Martin, Lloyd Gross and Owens each received two penalties. No damage was done in the scuffling.

The score was 1 to 1 after the first period, Freddy Robertson scoring for Cleveland, and Billy Hudson for Pittsburgh. Harold Darragh and Stan McCabe added Shamrock tallies in the second stanza, while Ken Doraty bagged a pair for the Falcons and Vic Ripley got one.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

When the old Bowery Theatre was built in New York in 1826 it was the largest theatre in America. When the grand opening took place the first show at the new theatre was "The Road to Ruin"—a play in which a young spendthrift brings about near ruin to his father's bank, and almost has to give up the girl he loves and marry a rich old widow.

The title of this opening attraction at the Bowery Theatre was prophetic of the theatre's destiny. The theatre became known as the unluckiest one in the world, and for thirty-five years mishaps dogged it.

Two years after the theatre was opened it was destroyed by fire. It was rebuilt by the manager, who soon took to drink because of the failing venture—this led to his death and the killing of Charles Young, an actor. In 1836 the building was again destroyed by fire, bringing financial ruin to the new manager, who had let his insurance lapse a few days before the fire.

The Bowery was reopened the following year by another manager. Thirteen months later it was again destroyed by fire, insurance this time only partly covering the loss. In 1839 it was opened again, but six years later burned again. For the fifth time, then, the old Bowery was rebuilt, but in 1861 it finally gave up as a theatre. The building was turned over to the government as an armory. Before the war was over, however, it was again made into a theatre, out this time under a different name—the Thalia—and under this name it survived an uneventful period.

Rated in order of effectiveness, based on the average number of earned runs per nine-inning game, they were: Joe Cascarella of Syracuse, with a 2.35 average; Bob Weiland of Albany and Rochester, 2.47; Ted Keinhans of Newark, 2.82; Chad Kimsey of Montreal, 3.14; Pete Appleton, Montreal, 3.17.

BALL PLAYERS' PAY INCREASED

Blanket Raise For Chicago Cubs; Foxx Gets New Contract

Chicago, Jan. 9.—For probably the first time in all baseball history, an entire ball club is to get a pay increase.

Manager Charlie Grimm announced every one of the twenty-three Chicago Cub regulars, who won the National League pennant last year with their unforgettable twenty-one-game winning streak, would get more money next season. No specific amounts were mentioned.

INCREASE FOR FOXX

New York, Jan. 9.—The Boston Red Sox have settled in a simple manner one problem that threatened to be a severe headache to owner Tom Yawkey and business manager Eddie Collins.

They tore up Jimmie Foxx's old contract, which still had two years to run, signed him to a new one-year document reputedly at a somewhat higher salary, and hushed the threat of a holdout that might have had a serious effect on the club.

Foxx came into the fold yesterday, accepting a reported figure of $25,000 instead of the $17,500 he was understood to have received from the A's.

Mercantile Cagers Suffer First Loss

Go Down to Defeat 47 to 35 at the Hands of Hoyle-Brown in Senior B League Fixture at High School

Hoyle-Brown, Tillicums and Trade-Ats registered victories on the triple game basketball card run off at the High School gym yesterday evening. West Saanich Mercantile, senior B leaders, were victims of the Hoyle-Brown breezy brand of play, and went down to defeat 47 to 35, the first of the season for the suburban hoopsters in the Victoria and District Basketball League.

In the second feature Tillicums nosed out Lake Hill 49 to 45 in a hotly contested exhibition to preserve their status in the league for a play-off position.

Gaining a fourteen point lead in the opening period, Trade-Ats intermediate A boys' squad whipped Regents 26 to 13. Regents rallied in the second half and scored one more point than their opponents.

The first minutes of the final stanza saw Hoyle-Brown and West Saanich deadlocked 27 to 27. After some fast and furious play the former broke through to begin a string of baskets which totaled twenty-six points against Mercantiles' eleven points.

COME FROM BEHIND

Lake Hill led at the interval by three points when the score read 21 to 18, but Tillicums filled the gap and forged ahead to a 49 to 45 win. Gordon Moore and Les Bradley sank sixteen and fourteen points respectively to produce the necessary scoring punch for the clubmen to register their victory.

One-sided Wins In Midweek Loop

Spencers Shutout Recreation Centre 7 to 0; Wanderers Blank Kresges 3 to 0 and Hudson's Bays Beat Navy 6 to 2 in Pendray Cup Soccer Openers

Easy victories marked the opening of play for the Pendray Cup, symbolic of the Wednesday Football League championship yesterday in the three scheduled games played.

Spencers shut out the Recreation Centre, new club in the league, 7 to 0 at Beacon Hill Park, while James Bay Wanderers downed Charlie Lewis's Kresges 3 to 0 at Heywood Avenue. A weakened Navy aggregation went down to defeat at the hands of the Hudson's Bay, by a score of 6 to 2 at the Admirals Road grounds.

Playing a good brand of soccer featured by the scoring of Wally Stewart, shifty left wing, who chalked up three goals, Hudson's Bay, winners of the Hayward Cup, had little trouble in checking in with a 6 to 2 win over the Navy at Admirals Road. The score as the teams reached the breather stood 4 to 2 for the eventual winners.

QUICK SCORING

Soon after the start of play the Bays tallied. The score was secured by Wally Stewart, who beat netminder Mundie with a bullet drive into the corner of the net. The Navy went onto the offensive at this stage of the game, and it was not long before they evened up, when Walker scored on the rebound from his previous effort.

A few minutes later "Scotty" Robinson, clever inside left boosted the departmentals into the lead again when he scored on a ground ball from close in. His tally was followed almost immediately by one by Wally Stewart, who scored on "Barney" Barnswell's rebound off the bar, to make the score stand 3 to 1 for the Bays.

Tubby Stevens garnered the Navy's final score of the half through a fine forward movement. The Sailors surged down the field, Hibbert, Navy half, let drive a long shot from well outside the penalty area. The ball slipped out of Baxter's hands and scuttled across the line

BLANKED IN SECOND HALF

Hudson's Bay shut out the Sailors as far as scoring went in the second canto. They marked up two counters in this session, with Stewart and Jack Okell sharing the honors. The Bays made their first appearance in their new green and gold block sweaters.

Dave McMillan refereed.

SPENCERS WIN

Spencers, defenders of the coveted Pendray Cup, walked away with their less-experienced opponents, Recreation Centre 7 to 0 at Beacon Hill. The Dimand "S" lads secured five out of their seven markers in the first half.

Guarding the Recreation goal, Spavin was more or less off-color in the initial half, but settled down to a more steady netminding in the second half, and should be credited with saving his team from a larger score against them. He made a number of beautiful saves during this half.

WANDERERS VICTORS

Pushing across one goal in the first half and two in the final canto, James Bay Wanderers defeated the Kresges squad 3 to 0 at Heywood Avenue. The Wanderers held the upper hand in play throughout the fixture.

Tommy Belford also garnered the final two goals.

Joe Obee refereed.

Students Blank Garrison Team

High School Rugby Fifteen Scores 9 to 0 Victory in Exhibition

The Victoria High School rugby fifteen defeated the Garrison squad 9 to 0 in a snappy exhibition game on the Fernwood grounds yesterday afternoon.

Bill Brown scored the first try for High when he received the ball after a smart three-quarter run and crossed the line at the corner to the field. Jack Cosler's kick from a difficult angle was unsuccessful.

The Garrison tried hard to even the score in the remainder of the first half but were strongly checked.

Jack Cosler had a chance to score more points for the High on a free kick thirty-five yards out in front of the goal but a good attempt went wide.

Portland Bucs Catch Vancouver By Tying Seattle Hawks

Chance To-night For Clear Lead In Hockey Loop

ESKIMOS UPSET CALGARY BY 4-3

Portland Buckaroos, tied with Vancouver Lions in the vanguard of the Northwest Hockey League pennant race, have an opportunity to take undisputed possession of first place to-night when they engage Seattle Sea Hawks on Portland ice.

The Bucs drew even with Vancouver at Seattle yesterday evening, when they held the Seahawks to a 3-3 tie while the Lions were idle.

At the same time the lowly Edmonton Eskimos upset the third-place Calgary Tigers 4-3 at Calgary and permitted Seattle to draw within one point of the Tigers in the league standing. The Esks are two points behind Seattle in last place.

All the scoring at Seattle came in the second and third periods. Dave Gilhooley, Seattle defenceman, was penalized at the start of the second session and Louis Coupez smashed in two goals before the big fellow returned, the first on a pass from Ralph Blyth and the second unassisted.

Gilhooley returned to the ice to figure in the first Seattle counter, passing to peaches Lyons who played to Johnny Sheppard for the goal. Harold Tabor evened the count on a pass from Moon Mullen before the second period ended.

TABOR SCORES TWO

Tabor was also given credit for Seattle's third goal in the final regular session when a shot by Cam Proudlock glanced off him and into the net. Portland tied the score three minutes later when Rusty Hemmerling batted in a rebound.

Edmonton took a two-goal lead in the first period at Calgary and were never headed. Morey Rimstad took a pass from Bill Carse to open the scoring and Louis Holmes snared a pass from Art Townsend two minutes later for the second marker.

Benny Ward cut the Eskimo lead in the second on a pass from Stew Adams but Art Gagne tricked the Calgary defence to again restore the two-goal Edmonton advantage. Ward scored again, this time with Dutch Gainor assisting.

Both teams scored in the final frame, Holmes netting for Edmonton on a pass from Loren Mercer and Gainor and Adams combining for the Calgary goal.

MISSES PENALTY

Lineups and scores follow:

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—Two British Columbia cricketers have been selected to accompany the Young Canadian Cricket XI which is to tour England next summer, it was stated here yesterday evening. They are Norman Pearson, star of the Vancouver Junior and Burrard Clubs, and Dave Carey of the North Shore Club.

These two players have bee invited to join the touring team, which will meet several of the British public school teams, including Eton, Harraw and possibly Rugby elevens. They will also play at least one match at Lords. While in England the team will be house guests for a week at the country home of Earl Bessborough, former Governor-General of Canada.

Carey, besides being a star at cricket, is an outstanding player on the Varsity rugby team. He has already accepted the invitation. Pearson is considering the invitation. It depends upon his being able to obtain absence from his employment.

May Cancel Games Against Halifax

C.A.H.A. Secretary Averse to Pitting Canadian Olympic Pucksters Against Released Wolves

Canadian Press

Halifax, Jan. 9.—Cancellation of the Canadian Olympic team's exhibition games here next week was threatened to-day by Fred Marples, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, in the event the Olympics should be opposed by the four Halifax Wolverines dropped from the squad Tuesday.

Marples, in a wire from Toronto to Jack Conn, manager of the disbanded Wolves, said the game was off if Conn insisted on using Ernie Mosher, "Chummie" Lawlor, Vince Ferguson and "Daddy" Bubar on the Halifax team scheduled to play the national team on the eve of its sailing for Germany.

Conn, promoter of the scheduled January 16 match, immediately asked Marples by wire to reconsider. The four players, he said, have been advertised as on the Halifax team, and the public would be "very indignant" were they dropped.

MOORE TO PLAY TO-NIGHT

Toronto, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press).—Port Colborne's Dinty Moore will make his first appearance in an Olympic hockey uniform this evening at Hamilton, when Port Arthur Bearcats play Hamilton Tigers in an exhibition game, it was announced yesterday by Secretary Fred Marples of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Moore, Hugh Farquharson of Montreal, Walter Kitchen of Toronto and Jimmy Haggarty of Wembley Canadians, formerly of Port Arthur, were added to the Olympic squad Tuesday following the dismissal of four Halifax members of the team.

Farquharson and Kitchen will lineup with the Bearcats for the first time next Monday when the Olympians play an exhibition game in Montreal. Haggarty is expected to go direct from England to Garmisch-Partenkirchen, joining the team at the Olympic scene.

The opener will be at 8.45 o'clock. Elliott appeared here last week. He is a great favorite with the fans. Kazanjian has also appeared here and has shown that he knows how to dish it out and take it. It should be a bout with action aplenty. They are scheduled to go over the route of eight ten-minute rounds.

INTER-CITY BOUTS

Three inter-city bouts will be staged on the grappling card as well as the local preliminary. Efforts are being made to match Louie Newman, local light heavy, with an out-of-town wrestler.

Promoters are working hard to secure a lively semi-windup.

Maroons Have Chance to Lead

Meet Canadiens To-night; Gorman Still Out of Game

Still without the inspiring leadership of Tommy Gorman, Montreal Maroons to-night are presented with their first opportunity in many a day of sharing leadership of the National Hockey League's Canadian Division.

While Gorman lies ill in Ottawa, his team will meet Canadiens at Montreal in a battle that may bring them up on even terms with Toronto Leafs, section leaders. They have to beat habitants to do it and even then they will be even only on points. Toronto will have an advantage of having played two games less than the Montrealers.

Americans provide Maroons with another incentive to win. Traveling as they seldom have before, the New Yorkers are within two points of the Stanley Cup holders and to-night play in Madison Square Garden against Chicago Black Hawks. Maroons must win to be sure of staying ahead of Red Dutton's team.

Sudbury, Ont., Jan. 9.—Miss Florence Hurd, Sudbury speed skater, will not compete in the world championship events at Oslo, Norway, she said yesterday. Miss Hurd had anticipated making the trip to Europe but was unable to raise funds for her expenses.

Attendance At Games Larger

Madison Square Reports Big Improvement in Paid Admissions

New York, Jan. 9.—Sports events at Madison Square Garden during the first half of the 1935-36 season showed a substantial gain in attendance, according to figures released to-day by Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

Figures for the period from June 1 to December 31, 1935, including attendance at indoor and outdoor boxing and wrestling, professional and amateur hockey, six-day bike race, basketball, rodeo and horse show, total 851,414 admissions compared with 786,085 admissions for the same period over the 1934-35 season. This increase of 65,329 persons attending sports events in Madison Square Garden is a gain of nearly 10 per cent over the corresponding period of the preceding year.

Tennis Prospects For 1936 Are Good

BIG FIELD SEEKS $5,000 GOLF HONORS

Los Angeles, Jan. 9.—With a field of stars and lesser known eligible to compete, Los Angeles is ready to present to-morrow its biggest golf attraction of the year, the "$5,000 open."

An ambitious army of nearly 200 has been trimmed down to 131, including forty-two players not required to go through the qualifying round yesterday. Out of the entire roster loom such favorites as:

Rated as equal favorites are Horton Smith, who won the Pasadena open last week, and Jimmy Hines, Garden City, Long Island, who took first money in the Riverside open; Harold McSpaden, unattached runner-up in the Pasadena, Riverside and Oakmont tournaments; Paul Runyan, leading low-score pro in the country in 1935, Sam Parks, national open king, Harry Cooper, Craig Wood, Leo Diegel, Olin Dutra and others.

NO TICKETS FOR GERMAN MONEY

Associated Press

Berlin, Jan. 8.—Many foreigners in Germany were unable to purchase Olympic tickets yesterday except with foreign money.

A typical example was one where German money was refused, and Brazilian accepted, from a young South American who wanted to buy tickets.

Because thousands will come here for the Winter Olympics beginning February 6 and for the games in August, the German government stands to gain considerable foreign exchange without running a chance of unbalancing its own foreign trade figures, and thereby to ease one of its most pressing problems.

Another Epochal Moody-Jacobs Battle Predicted By Head of U.S. Association New Stimulus to Davis Cup Competition

By WALTER MERRILL HALL
President, U.S. Lawn Tennis Association

New York, Jan. 9.—I believe we can look ahead to the tennis season of 1936 with assurance of a most satisfactory year. There has been ample evidence of the continued growth of public interest in the game. This will add to the attraction of the 1936 season, which already can be seen to have elements of new flavor, at least by comparison with recent years.

Our American zone of the Davis Cup competition will in 1936 receive renewed stimulus and zest from the Australian challenge in this zone which insures a high quality of competitive sport right from the start of the season.

It also seems most probable that this year's women's tennis will be enlivened by a return to competition of our former champion and present British champion, Mrs. Helene Wills Moody, and that our championships will be climaxed by another epochal match between Mrs. Moody and our present champion, Miss Helen Jacobs, which will be of immense public interest since these two outstanding players are now bracketed at the top of the women's tennis world.

Our association is bending every effort to promote the further development of high grade play among the large number of very promising younger players, and we have no fears for the future of our representative teams.

Indian Feast Days Recalled

Whale Bone Found in Shell Bed at Sooke Tells of Redmen's Banquet

Happenings during the days when only Indians inhabited Vancouver Island were revived this morning when Emanuel Throup, pioneer resident of Sooke, brought into The Times office to-day the frontal bone of a large humpback whale, which he had found on the beach at Sooke Harbor.

Mr. Throup located the unusual bone while walking on the beach. He saw something sticking out of a shell bed and he unearthed it.

Frank Kermode, director of the Provincial Museum, was shown the bone this morning and pronounced it a frontal bone to the brain case of a humpback whale.

The fact that it was found in a shell bed and the age of the bone itself lent significance to the find, for it is known that Indians many years ago used to hold whalemeat feasts as well as clam-bakes. The whalemeat was considered a great delicacy by the Indians.

It is thought the whale must have been a huge one as the frontal bone is exceptionally large.

Mr. Throup takes a great deal of interest in gathering unusual things and likes to trace their history. He is an old placer miner and is one of the outstanding figures of the district.

Ymir Mine Men Announce Plans

To Seek Ore With New Fund of $15,000; Creditors Asked to Ease Up

There is still hope of recovering at least some of the $400,000 invested by people here in Ymir Consolidated Mine and its stock, according to a statement issuing to-day by officials of the company.

The situation has been under consideration since last Monday afternoon by a special committee, appointed by the large meeting of shareholders at the Chamber of Commerce, and it was announced to-day that the management had arranged for $15,000 to be put up for additional development work in an effort to uncover commercial ore. Also, it was announced, meetings are to be held next week with creditors in Vancouver and Nelson with the object of obtaining their co-operation to ease up on their debt claims and thus permit the company to carry on further development. It was explained that the plan is to develop the higher grade showing of the Goodenough and mine about 3,000 tons of ore on a selective basis before making any effort to resume mill operations.

A statement from the company also said that appointment of a new engineer to direct development work at the property is planned.

Big U.S. Slush Fund Predicted

Democratic National Committee Told By J. A. Farley Republicans Very Busy

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 9.—Governor Talmadge, seated as a Georgia national committeeman, shouted the only dissenting "no" to-day to a resolution before the United States Democratic committee approving the acts of the Roosevelt administration.

Chairman James A. Farley told the committee the approaching election campaign would be a "campaign of defamation" financed by the "largest slush fund in history" from the pockets of "those who have neither public conscience nor private scruple."

Following the same lines as President Roosevelt's address yesterday evening, Mr. Farley appealed for support from Republicans and Independents.

"It will be a campaign of defamation on the side of our adversaries, a simple effort to break down the faith of the people in a president under whose leadership the Democratic administration has lifted our nation out of the depths of despair to the broad way of hope and set it on the high road to renewed prosperity," Mr. Farley said.

TWO SIBERIAN BORDER INCIDENTS

Canadian Press from Havas

Moscow, Jan. 9.—Two new violations of the Soviet frontier within the last fortnight by foresters and troops of the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchukuo were charged by the Soviet Government to-day.

The first incident occurred December 28 when Manchukuan foresters penetrated more than a mile into Soviet territory. The foresters were arrested by a Soviet border detachment and brought to Soviet headquarters for questioning, a Tass news agency report said.

The Soviet news agency added that seven days later, on January 4, a detachment of fifteen Manchukuan-Japanese soldiers crossed into Soviet territory, but fled back across the border when a Soviet border patrol approached them.

"1936" in Prophecy Will Be Subject

A public lecture on "The Year 1936 In Prophecy" will be given by E. E. Richards in the Chamber of Commerce to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

The lecturer will tell how the year 1936 has been looked forward to by students of prophecy for the last seventy years as the crucial year of the Christian dispensation, and the completion of the "times of the Gentiles," when the Holy Land and the Jewish people shall be fully emancipated. The stirring events biblically forecasted in connection with the "controversy of Zion," which would seem eventually to involve the whole world in conflict, will be told by the speaker. The tremendous armaments and increasing military activities of the present time, he will claim, are contributory to the fulfillment of prophecy, the ultimate of which is the world-wide messianic reign of Christ. Lantern slides will be a special feature of the address. Canon Jos. Hinchliffe will preside.

Court Liberty, Juvenile Ancient Order of Foresters, will hold the annual banquet to-morrow evening next, commencing at 6.30 o'clock in the Forester's Hall, Cormorant Street During the evening the regular business meeting will take place, when the following officers will be installed: P.C.R., Sister B. At the conclusion of the meeting there will be a splendid concert, to which all Foresters are invited. Court Liberty has just completed a very successful year. At the last meeting eight new members were initiated.

In addition to the office of acting Premier, Hon. A. Wells Gray will also be acting Minister of Finance and Industries in the absence of British Columbia's delegation in Ottawa.

INSURANCE IS SURE TO COME

Dr. G. M. Weir Tells Rotarians Health Insurance Economic, Humanitarian

"Health insurance is economic and it is humanitarian. I know it is coming just as sure as there will be night and day and five years after it is in operation people who are now opposing it will be in favor of it. The basis of attack is prevention," said Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, addressing members of the Rotary Club at luncheon to-day in the Empress Hotel. The subject of his address was "Sidelights on health and education."

Dr. Weir said there could not be progress without change. A healthy, educated people was a great national asset, he said. It paid to have healthy people because "if we don't pay to have a healthy people we have to pay for it at the other end—with institutions."

SICKNESS PREVENTABLE

Five out of eight people in Canada could not afford a trained nurse when they actually needed one, Dr. Weir said. Six out of eight people did not call the doctor as soon as they should. Much ill health, he said, was preventable. In 1930 there were 10,000 people in Canada who said illness laid them up from sixty to ninety days and that it kept them bankrupt anywhere from two to five years. Most people said they were unable to meet medical and nursing charges in a lump sum.

The speaker mentioned the bad teeth, bad tonsils and minor illnesses now prevalent among the school-children of British Columbia and said these would have to be paid for some time.

"The burden we are going to bear for this is some day going to be very heavy," he said.

Dr. Weir spoke of hospitals and said charges for hospitalization were skyrocketing.

MASK AS INDIGENTS

"What about uncollected hospital fees?" he asked. "Who pays? Yes, you and I and everyone pays. There are some people who mask as indigents. There are some people in hospitals who should not be there. They could get adequate treatment in their homes.

"Venereal disease is increasing. We have to make an attack on that. And closely related to that is insanity. There are 160 additional patients at Essondale each year. There are 3,140 insane there now. Next year there will be 3,400 patients."

Dr. Weir said the direct cost of illness to British Columbia ran from $13,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year. Health insurance, he said, if properly enacted, would not add to this burden.

"We've been cutting and cutting to the bone in public health services in the last five years," he said.

CANNOT STAND ALOOF

"The need for hospitalization can be cut if people received medical attention in the beginning of their illness," the speaker continued. "If we get at the sources of infection early enough we are going to be able to dry up those sources. We cannot stand aloof and say this matter does not concern us. It does. It is a matter of self-preservation. Social service workers agree that bad health adds to all their problems. There would be no drawback to the business of the province if there was health insurance that would impose a modest tax on all."

Dr. Weir said the Dominion Government should assist hospitalization in certain cases but that it could not take it over entirely. He spoke of the B.N.A. Act and said "it is something of a Frankenstein, but it is there."

There had been an increase in the school population and the number of teachers in British Columbia, but a decrease of 19 per cent in the amount of teachers' salaries, he said.

"That's why some of these teachers are going red," he said.

Tram and Truck In Minor Smash

When a Fernwood street car, operated by Thomas Leahy, turned the wrong way on Douglas Street this morning it was responsible for a minor accident with a truck owned by McDonald's Grocery, according to a city police report this morning.

William Webster, driver of the truck, was parked beside the street at the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets, facing east, waiting for the traffic light to change. As the green light showed both the street car and the truck started forward, the truck driver expecting the car to pursue its usual course north on Douglas Street.

The car, however, turned southward along Douglas Street and hit the truck. There was only minor damage and no personal injuries.

QUARTETTE TO PLAY JAN. 23

Famed Musical Organization Will Appear With New First Violinist

James Levey, who replaces Geza de Kresz as leader and first violinist of the Hart House String Quartette, has won world-wide acclaim as an exponent of chamber music. Eight years ago he retired from concert work as leader of the celebrated London String Quartette, to devote himself exclusively to teaching. Several world-renowned musical organizations made overtures to him, but he resolutely refused to return to concert work, until finally Milton Blackstone, Boris Hambourg and Harry Arn Adaskin of the Hart House String Quartette, whom he had heard play both in New York and London, England, persuaded him to join them.

Levey studied the violin in London with Ferdinand Weist-Hall, a prize pupil of the famous Belgian virtuoso, Ysaye, and first played in public at the age of fifteen. Five years later he was a member of the Royal Philharmonic and Beecham orchestras, and was shortly after appointed concertmaster of the Royal Albert Hall Orchestra under Sir Landon Ronald. He first appeared in Canada in 1920 as leader of the London String Quartette and has made several tours of England, continental Europe and South America. He is acknowledged to be the greatest quartette leader in the world.

Victoria music lovers will have an opportunity of hearing James Levey with his three brilliant new colleagues when he comes with the Hart House String Quartette on January 23, at the Empress Hotel, under the auspices of Violet Wilson and the Beaux Arts Society.

Will Rogers to Be Starred Here

Starring Will Rogers with a stellar supporting cast, "In Old Kentucky" brings the drama which has thrilled and delighted thirty million Americans to the screen in the Fox picturization at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

Rogers's role in "In Old Kentucky" is that of old Steve Tapley. A shrewd, quizzical and humorous horse trainer, he makes champions of colts, friends out of feud fighters and brings romance to estranged sweethearts.

The drama of the picture arises out of a feud between the families of old Charles Sellon and Charles Richman. Rogers gets himself in and out of all sorts of trouble trying to protect Sellon from the law, and keeping the romance of Sellon's daughter and Richman's trainer from breaking up.

AMERICAN STEEL PRODUCTION UP

New York, Jan 9.—The steel industry has come out of the holiday lull with a rise in the ingot production rate to 51 per cent of capacity compared with 47½ per cent a week ago, Iron Age stated to-day in its weekly review.

The rebound was shared in by most producing centres, the south being the only important district to show a slower rate of operations.

JOE E. BROWN AT COLUMBIA

"Gee, this is fun!" exclaimed a member of the atmosphere audience at the all-night shooting on location of the First National picture, "Bright Lights," which comes to the Columbia Theatre to-day. "The best part of it is that we are getting paid."

Hundreds of people had gathered in front of the Los Angeles "Follies Theatre" on Main Street, Los Angeles, to see Joe E. Brown and his company work on location. There was almost a riot when Director Busby Berkeley came out and announced he wanted extras for an "audience."

George E. Stone in "Million Dollar Baby," with Arline Judge, is also being shown.

Barthelmess In First Stage Role

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 9.—Richard Barthelmess, who left college fifteen years ago to become a movie star, to-day began rehearsals for his first stage role.

Terming it a "grand experiment," Barthelmess said he felt "very happy" about appearing in a play. He will make his Broadway debut as the vagrant lover, who ends up on the gallows in James M. Cain's "The Postman Always Rings Twice."

"Broadway Hostess" Will Open To-morrow

Written especially for the show by Allie Wrubel and Mort Dixon and quite definitely tailored to suit Winifred Shaw and Phil Regan, there are five melodious songs in "Broadway Hostess," the First National production which comes to the Dominion Theatre to-morrow.

Thus this new film-play, a comedy drama with music, with Miss Shaw in the title role, is really rich in potential hit numbers.

In addition to the songs, as composed by Wrubel and Dixon, the famous team which wrote Miss Shaw's sensational hit, "The Lady In Red" for "In Caliente," there will be a complete background or atmosphere music composed for the picture by M. K. Jerome, a veteran of Tin Pan Alley with a notable list of "million-copy" hits to his credit.

"Roberta" at the Little Orpheum

Feminine glamour in its most magnificent mood is on parade in a glittering setting in "Roberta," which stars beautiful Irene Dunne and those fascinating dancers, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers. It is now at the Little Orpheum Theatre.

In addition to the fashion pageant presented by the dashing Ginger and the demure Miss Dunne, in this spectacular RKO-Radio musical, twelve of the most beautiful models in Hollywood pass in review clad in such scintillating splendor as would rival an Arabian night's dream.

Wall Street Stocks Trade In Volume To Lower Levels

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 9.—Trading turned very active and prices slipped uncertainly lower in the final minutes of to-day's session of the stock exchange. Utilities were under pressure.

The power shares, rather freely offered all day, finally unsettled the list. The closing tone was lower. Transfers approximated 2,750,000 shares.

During most of the day the market was quiet with conflicting price trends prevailing. Only at the opening and at the finish was activity pronounced. Farm shares held gains most consistently, while rails and metals each had turns as leaders in the improvement. Utilities were under more or less pressure from the start.

Stocks which lost around 1 to 2 points included Peoples Gas, American Telephone, North American, U.S. Steel, Greyhound, Westinghouse Electric, Western Union, Bethlehem, Chrysler and Owen-Illinois Glass.

Among those up similar amounts were Standard Oil of Indiana, U.S. Rubber, International Harvester, National Biscuit, Reading and Case.

SENIOR GOLDS RULE HIGHER

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Offerings in liberal supply checked the advance in the secondary gold group on the Toronto mining market to-day, but the senior golds ruled higher and prices firmed in the base metal issues also. Silver stocks remained unchanged to slightly lower, and the oils were strong. Volume expanded to heaviest in several months.

The close found Macassa, Beattie, Buffalo-Ankerite, Central Patricia and Anglo-Huronian showing moderate gains, while closing prices were lower for God's Lake, Sylvanite, Pamour, McWatters, Read-Authier and Siscoe.

Little Long Lac dropped an early gain, but Bralorne, Pioneer, Hollinger, Lake Shore, McIntyre and Teck-Hughes were all up. Pioneer sold up to $10.40, 40c higher than the previous close.

Noranda and Hudson Bay added ½ to a full point. Falconbridge closed a few cents off. Ventures traded in heavy volume with the price holding steady. In the silvers a loss of about 6c for Nipissing was the main adjustment.

LONDON MARKET

London, Jan. 9.—Week-end settlement activity and the coal trade dispute restricted business on the stock exchange to-day. Press Advertising Is Voted Best

Cross-section of Public of U.S. Taken On Vote, Shows Great Confidence In Reliability

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, Jan. 9.—A high degree of confidence that newspaper advertising is reliable, found in a wide cross-section of the United States public, was reported to-day by Charles S. Stech in an advertising research study.

More than 5,000 persons from coast to coast were asked fifteen questions about newspaper advertising by a corps of young women. The questions were put to oil field workers, professors, physicians, housewives, lawyers, bartenders, beauty shop operators and many other categories.

"To the question," Stech reports, "'Which do you usually consider more reliable statements given out by men elected to public office or advertisements in your daily newspapers?' 85 per cent favor newspaper advertisements.

"Answering the question, 'Which do you usually consider more reliable, claims and statements made by salesmen or advertisements in your daily newspaper?' 88 per cent declared for newspaper advertising. Even the majority of salesmen questioned agreed that newspaper advertising was apt to be more reliable and dependable than the average salesman."

Winnipeg Futures Follow Downtrend In Outside Marts

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—Partially reflecting easiness in outside markets, wheat prices sagged fractionally in a slow session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Values closed ⅝ cent lower, May at 88, July 88⅜ and October 87 cents.

Fairly heavy commission-house selling proved too burdensome and prices slipped easily, offerings quickly dried up, however, and for the balance of the quiet session future held steady. Export sales totaled more than 250,000 bushels.

Reflecting the pressure of Australian wheat on the market, prices at Liverpool closed ⅜ to ¾d lower. Chicago was off a cent at one time, while Buenos Aires gained a fraction.

Cash and coarse grains were quiet, prices in the latter market easing fractionally.

OILS LEAD AT TORONTO

Associated Press

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Heavy trading in the oils at firm to strong prices featured the Toronto industrial share market to-day. Some liquors and other interlisted leaders, including C.P.R., Smelters and Ford A ruled a little stronger. The closing tone was steady.

British American Oil at 19¾ had a net gain of ⅝. Imperial Oil had a ¼-point gain to 20¾.

Final prices showed minor gains for Industrial Alcohol A and Brewers and Distillers while Walkers Common and Distillers-Seagrams were off ¼ to ½.

Heavy industrials broke about even on losses and gains. Bridge issues were up as well as Canada Wire A and Dominion Steel. Aside from gains for National Pipe A and Gypsum the construction issues were unchanged.

Abitibi common was a little higher, the implement issues did better and utilities displayed more than weakness. B.C Power A, Shawinigan, Bell Telephone and Consumer's Gas were up at the close.

BANKERS SAY CANADA GAINS

M. W. Wilson and S. G. Dobson Address Royal Bank's Annual Meeting

Canadian Press

Montreal, Jan. 9.—The Bank of Canada came into operation "without the slightest hitch or inconvenience" to chartered banks, Sydney G. Dobson, general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, told shareholders at their annual meeting here to-day.

"And as far as chartered banks are concerned," he added in reviewing the financial report already made public, "it has continued so to function since its inception."

Tribute to the "courage and stability" of Canadians was paid by President Morris W. Wilson, who said no one "can make an impartial review of the accomplishments of the past two years in Canada without establishing a basis for optimism as to the immediate future. . . . In every province of Canada the improvement in conditions has reduced unemployment and created increased purchasing power."

FARMERS' GAINS

To the farmers, he said there was "almost an immeasurable difference between the price of 40 cents and 90 cents for wheat." To farmers in all parts of the country improvement in prices for potatoes, fruits and other farm products "has brought substantial relief from the greatest difficulties of the depression."

Throughout the depression the mining industry was maintained at high levels while the lumbering industry was among the first to experience major recovery, he continued.

But after reviewing all conditions, Mr. Wilson expressed the belief Canada "may look forward to the coming year with a greater optimism than has been possible at any time in the last six years."

ONTARIO POWER DISCUSSION

Repudiation of contracts "does not pay," Mr. Wilson said.

Discussing debtor relief legislation, Mr. Wilson said it "naturally brings up another subject which is the cause of grave concern to many who have the welfare of our country at heart. I refer to the repudiation last year by one of our great provinces of important long-term power contracts.

"The alleged ground was that of illegality, but it is noteworthy that disregarding all ordinary canons of British justice, the agrieved parties—that is, thousands of people and institutions who have invested tens of millions of dollars in plant for the express purpose of producing the power to be delivered under the contracts in question—have been denied access to the courts to press their claims.

"Moral considerations aside — and these are not to be lightly disregarded — the policy of repudiating contracts that may have become burdensome because of changed conditions strikes at the very root of our social and economic life."

Population Pressure On Canada Is Seen

Canadian Press

Saskatoon, Jan. 9.—Canada may yet have to choose between accepting more settlers or war, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture, suggested in an address to the Canadian Club here yesterday, when he pointed to the population pressure obtaining in many parts of the world as against the thinly-populated expanse of this country.

Speaking on "Problems of Home Building in the West," the former Saskatchewan Premier further suggested this province is in need of more settlers so that a greater population may build up reserves against years of adversity.

GAS BOMBS "QUITE A JOKE"

Canadian Press

Regina, Jan. 9.—When tear gas bombs were hurled by police to quell the relief camp strikers' riot here on the night of July 1, it was apparently "quite a joke" to a big crowd of women and girls present, according to William P. Cumming, Regina barrister, who gave eye-witness evidence before the inquiry commission to-day.

When the gas bombs were thrown they crowded back "giggling and laughing," he said.

Mr. Cumming was in the vicinity of Scarth Street and Eleventh Avenue when he saw persons he believed to be strikers throw rocks at police and dart back into the crowd, largely composed of women. He was in Victoria Park later when a shower of missiles directed at police brought a volley of shots in reply.

"During two hours downtown that night," he said, "at no time did I see police interfere with civilians."

The father blamed labor troubles and said he and his son had received threats recently.

POLICE DENY LOOT CHARGES

Majority of 25 Accused in Toronto Tell Commission No Goods Stolen

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Constables accused by a former colleague of looting downtown business establishments or receiving goods stolen from such places denied the charges to-day before the royal commission inquiring into the charges.

Six policemen added their denials to similar evidence of seven yesterday. Several of the remaining dozen have already testified before Judge J. J. Coughlin and Judge Duncan C. Ross, the commissioners, and declared former Constable W. J. Watt's accusations false.

Watt, convicted in 1933 of receiving stolen goods, told the commission twenty-five policemen formed the "100-per-cent gang" looting stores in No. 1 division.

STRIKE CALL POSTPONED

British Coal Miners Give Time For Further Wage Discussion

Canadian Press

London, Jan. 9.—The executive of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain to-day decided to postpone issuing strike notices next week pending further discussions with representatives of the mine owners.

This action followed a two-hour conference between the parties while the Minister of Mines, Capt. H. F. C. Crookshank, consulted with Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin.

A further meeting will be held January 24, immediately after a conference of miners' delegates from all the coal-mining areas of the country.

The federation had been expected to issue strike notices to-morrow or on Monday. A nation-wide strike, to begin January 27, was approved by a large majority of the miners when they voted last month.

G. C. CLARK OF VANCOUVER DIES

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—George Coggan Clark, seventy-five, a resident of Vancouver for nearly half a century and a teaming contractor in the city's pioneer days, died to-day. Forty-eight years ago he built a home on East Broadway, where he lived until his death. It was the first house erected in that part of the Mount Pleasant district.

Mr. Clark was born in England, and came to Canada sixty-one years ago, and to British Columbia eleven years later. He was a pioneer member of St. Michael's Anglican Church.

Surviving him are the widow, two daughters, Florence and Annie at home; three sons, James, Cloverdale; Walter, West Summerland, and John at home.

Canadian Press

New York, Jan. 9.—Entirely unconfirmed rumors to the effect the United States planned further currency devaluation sent leading currencies soaring to new highs since last August in the foreign exchange markets to-day.

The Canadian dollar closed at a discount of 3-32 per cent aginst ¼ per cent yesterday. The pound sterling moved up 1⅜ cents to $4.95½, while the French franc, closing at 6.62¼ cents, showed an advance of .02¾ of a cent.

Dow Jones and Company said private cable advices from abroad indicated the telegram sent yesterday by the committee for the nation urging President Roosevelt to devalue the dollar immediately by raising the price of gold to $41 an ounce was the direct cause of the movement.

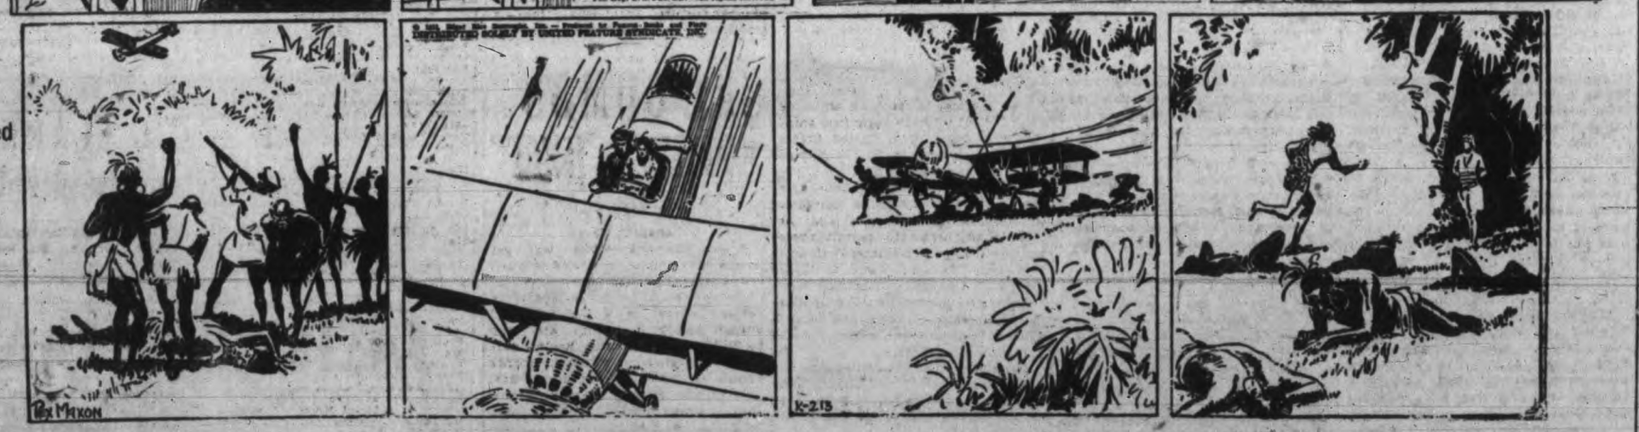
Tarzan The Untamed



The warriors, at first dismayed at the death of their leader, were now worked to a frenzy of rage and a determination to be avenged. Above the roar of the motor, Tarzan shouted a few words of instruction into Olga's ear.

As the girl grasped the significance of his words she paled, but her lips set in a hard line. Her eyes shone with a sudden fire of determination as she dove at the savages with throttle wide open.

Usanga's men had no time to escape. The plane struck among them and mowed through them, a veritable juggernaut of destruction. When it came to rest at the edge of the forest the ape-man leaped quickly to the ground and ran toward the young lieutenant.

And as he went he glanced at the spot where the warriors had stood, ready to defend himself if necessary, but there was none there to oppose him. Dead and dying they lay strewn for fifty feet along the turf. By the time the ape-man had freed the Englishman the girl had joined them.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a business woman and I continued on with my job when I married, so I have been more than self-supporting and have cost my husband nothing. On the contrary, I have helped him, which I was glad to do.

But my husband refuses to confide in me anything whatsoever that has to do with money. We are living with his people and he has refused to tell me how much he pays them for board. His income he claims I shall never learn from him. I know that he is in financial difficulties, but what these are I have no idea, as he thinks that a man's business affairs are none of his wife's concern. All of this hurts me dreadfully, as I had thought that married life was a partnership and feel that my husband shuts me out of his life when he will not confide in me.

I am trying to make the best of the situation, which also involves childlessness as he does not want a family because of the upkeep, although I offered to finance a baby myself. What about it?

A CONSTANT FOLLOWER.

Answer—Not much. A husband with as tight a fist as your husband has, and as dumb a tongue, would need to possess every other charm and grace of body and mind to offset these drawbacks. I doubt if he has these. So, as you have to earn your own living and he doesn't even regard you as a confidential friend he can trust, it seems to me that you are getting a thin deal out of matrimony.

Evidently you are married to a man whose ideas about women and money are pre-Victorian. Then it was thought that a female was constitutionally incapable of understanding anything about finance and that she would probably have hysterics if she tried to add up the butcher's bill, so the only thing for a good husband to do was to handle all the money himself and dole out a dime to her now and then as an especial treat.

In those days when a man married a rich girl he took over all her property and put it in his own name and that was the last she ever saw of it. As for a wife being given an allowance for herself as some slight remuneration for the work she did as housekeeper, cook, seamstress, baby-tender and what not, no man dreamed of doing such a thing. Wages for wives! Never! They got their board and clothes. What more did the unreasonable creatures want?

But this notion that women don't know anything about financial matters, can't understand them and are not to be trusted with money, anyway, is a quaint conceit that is laughable enough in these days when women are following every gainful occupation. There are not only women bank-tellers and bank presidents, but probably nine-tenths of the money that is handled goes through the red-nailed fingertips of women cashiers.

Certainly your husband, of all men, seeing that you appear to be a better business man than he is, should not consider you unworthy to be told anything concerning his money affairs.

Of course, if a man has picked out a fool or a blabber for a wife, he is justified in not telling her anything about his business, but if he is married to a sensible wife, he makes a great mistake in not confiding in her. For one thing, it is the wife's right to know just exactly what her husband's income it because she is his partner and she sinks or swims with him. Also, it is the only way by which she can gauge her expenditures. Many a woman runs her husband in debt just because she thinks he is making more money than he is.

Nearly all women are anxious to get along in the world. If their husbands will talk over their plans with them, and make them see how, by economizing, they can enlarge the factory or fix up the store, they will gladly pinch pennies to put into the enterprise.

Furthermore, many women have shrewd financial judgment and their husbands lose much when they lose their advice. Many a wife's hunch has made her husband's fortune.

• • • • •

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have a daughter aged seventeen. Just a high school kid. A man twenty-eight years old is paying attention to her. He is fine man in every respect, but I feel she is too young to have regular company. What would you do about it?

AN ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Answer—Just let it rock along without making any issue of it, except that the girl cannot go out or have dates during school nights.

Of course, girls are much older now at seventeen than they were in your day. We speeded up age as well as everything else, and probably your daughter is more sophisticated and better able to take care of herself now than you were when you were married. So her stepping out a little is to be expected. All the girls do it. And you can't keep yours from doing so without making her feel like a martyr and tempting her to have her dates on the sly instead of under your eye.

Nearly all young girls are so flattered by the attentions of grown-up men that they imagine themselves in love with them. This is likely to happen to your daughter. If it does, don't make the mistake of violently opposing the man. Nothing precipitates a marriage like opposition. Just stall for time. Make them wait until the girl is at least twenty.

Seventeen is too young for any girl to marry. At that age her tastes are unformed and she has no idea of what kind of man she will want for a husband three years later. And she has had no playtime of life, and to miss that does something terrible to a woman. It upsets her for life. She is always crazy for the fun she has missed, hungry for the romance she never had, craving the admiration of men. Nearly all the women who, at middle age, get themselves into scandals married in their teens.

Uncle Wiggily's Jack In the Box

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Among the presents which Baby Bunty the orphan rabbit received at Christmas was a toy called "Jack in the Box." I think you all know what it was like, but perhaps I might say it was a small, square box with a hinged cover that fastened down

When the cover was loosed it flew up and from inside the box, where he was pressed into a small shape because of the coiled spring inside him, would leap up a queer little chap named Jack.

Jack was long and slender, like a snake, and he had a face like Bumpersnickle, if you know that jolly elk. Jack had long black hair like a Chinese doll and flapping arms. His body was just a round tube of cloth with the coiled spring inside.

If anyone who didn't know what was in the box happened to open it suddenly, out Jack would pop and bang them on the nose. Baby Bunty had a lot of fun with her Christmas Jack in the Box toy. But she played with it so often, making Jack pop out, that at last he jumped loose from where he was fastened to the bottom of the box and leaped so far away that Baby Bunty could never find him again.

CRIES FORWARD AND BACKWARD

"Oh, dear!" cried the little orphan rabbit. "My lovely Jack toy is broken! I can't have any more fun with him! Boo hoo! Hoo hoo!" And Baby Bunty cried forward and backward at the same time.

Hearing her, Uncle Wiggily asked the reason for her tears, and when she told the jolly old rabbit gentleman he said:

"I will fix your Jack toy so it will pop as good as before, Baby Bunty."

"Will you!" exclaimed the little orphan rabbit eagerly. "Oh, that will be lovely! But how can you do it? You can't find the Jack who tore loose and jumped out of my box and I don't believe Santa Claus will give you another until next Christmas."

"Never you mind," said Uncle Wiggily. "Just give me the empty box and you'll see what happens."

So Bunty gave Uncle Wiggily the empty box and the old rabbit gentleman hopped to a goldfish store, which was also a place where a little Japanese dog kept a pet shop.

"Have you any jumping pet frogs, Mr. Jap?" asked the rabbit.

"Oh, yes, surely, Uncle Wiggily," was the answer. "What do you want with a pet frog?"

"I want to put him in this box of Baby Bunty's," answered the rabbit, showing it and telling how the Jack had been lost. "Bunty wants something to pop out of her box when she opens the lid. I thought a jumping pet frog would be nice."

"So it would," said the Jap dog. "But my pet frogs must be kept warm or they will die. If you put one in the box and take it out in the cold it will never jump."

"Then I will put some cotton in the box to keep the frog warm," said the rabbit gentleman. When this had been done, and the little pet put in the box, everything worked just fine. No sooner was the lid opened than out would pop the green frog, jumping farther than the Jack had jumped, and making whoever saw him laugh like anything.

"Oh, that's the best Jack Frog in the box I ever had!" laughed Baby Bunty when Uncle Wiggily gave it to her. "Thank you just hesps and heaps, Unkie Wig!" So she had a lot of fun with her new toy and the frog enjoyed it as much as Bunty did.

So if the jelly bean will give the marshmallow a peppermint ice cream cone for breakfast, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Umple's umbrella.

Shipping Strike Is Expected To Spread

About 2,000 Men Are Now on Strike, as Many Ships Tied Up at Pacific Coast Ports

Associated Press

San Francisco, Jan. 9.—Crew demands for a six-hour day in port brought a crisis in west coast shipping to-day, with about 2,000 men on strike.

Only eleven small coastal carriers remain in trade and the Shipowners's Association reported these "will probably be tied up as fast as they can make port."

Of fifty-seven steam schooners standing idle, twenty-three were tied up because of labor trouble, thirty-four because of lack of cargo or obsolescence.

Four deep-water ships, all from the east coast, are tied up here because their crews want west coast agreements, which would give them higher pay.

SCHOONER CONTROVERSY

The steam schooner controversy is of long standing. The 1934 award, which ended the great maritime strike of that year, provided that steam schooner men would unload their ships, working eight hours a day, and should receive $70 monthly plus 70 cents an hour for overtime.

Before the award was renewed last September 30, the schooner workers asked formally for a six-hour day in port for longshore work which shipowners refused.

Two offshore vessels and two coastwise schooners were added to the number of strike-bound ships here yesterday.

Crews of the freighters Edgar Luckenbach and the Calmar walked off their ships. They demanded west coast articles and wages. The big passenger liner Pensylvania is also tied up.

The steam schooners added to the strike list were the Quinalt and the Stanwood. Their crews demanded shorter hours and higher overtime pay.

CAPT. WEAVER PASSES AWAY

United States Navy Officer Had Varied Career in Many Parts of World

New York, Jan. 9.—Capt. David Allen Weaver, one of the senior captains of the United States Navy, who was serving as commandant of the San Diego Naval Training Station, died there last week, according to a special dispatch to The New York Times. He was fifty-six years of age.

Capt. Weaver, in the course of his naval career had been in command of several of the principal training stations of the service, among them the Hampton Roads and the Great Lakes stations.

He was born near Lexington, Ga., and entered the Naval Academy on September 11, 1897. He served on the China Station following his graduation and was fleet athletic officer of the Connecticut, flagship of "Fighting Bob" Evans when the American fleet made its round-the-world cruise in 1907-08.

WAR EXPERIENCE

The greater part of Capt. Weaver's World War experience was as staff officer on the flagship of battleship Division 7. As executive officer on the Wyoming he was on the staff of Admiral T. S. Rogers.

After a brief tour of duty as commandant of the radio school at Harvard, Capt. Weaver was sent to take charge of the naval training station at the Great Lakes. From there he was transferred to the staff of the War College at Newport, Rhode Island, subsequently serving in Submarine Division 17 of the Battle Force. He was executive officer on the South Carolina and Wyoming. After a tour of duty at the New Hampshire naval training station, he was in command of the submarine tender Holland.

He was raised to the rank of Captain in 1925. After three years as commandant of the Hampton Roads station he commanded the battleship New Mexico from 1933 until he was appointed to San Diego.

In 1926 he went to New Zealand in the same capacity, remaining there two years and then going to British Malaya in 1928-29 on the special British trade mission. Mr. Beale is well known in Victoria, being a member of the Union Club. He is also a member of the Vancouver Club, the Shanghai Club, the Royal Automobile, the British Empire and the Aldwych Clubs of London. He was born November 28, 1879, and received his education at Skinners School, Tunbridge Wells. He was married in 1903 and has two sons.

Bound for the Philippine Islands determined upon the acquisition of some of the rare blackwood carvings of the Igorot tribes in northern Luzon, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Anthony are among the passengers sailing today on the Ms. Hikawa Maru for the Orient.

"I not only want the carvings, but I want to see how and where they are made," said Mrs. Anthony just before she went aboard the Hikawa Maru. "I'm going right up into their barrios in the hills to check up on the process the natives use to turn the carvings black."

FISHERMAN'S BODY FOUND

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—The body of Howard Galbraith, forty-eight-year-old fisherman, missing since last Monday, was located by Provincial Police yesterday in his partly submerged boat near Frane's landing, six miles from Deep Cove on the north arm of Burrard Inlet. MORE APPLES ARE SHIPPED

But New Westminster's General Tonnage Also Suffers Because of Strike

New Westminster, Jan. 9.—Heavy increases in apple shipments from this Fraser River port were recorded during 1935 over the previous year, but total cargo figures were lower owing to shipping being temporarily disrupted by the waterfront strike last summer.

The annual statement issued by the New Westminster Harbor Commissioners shows a total cargo tonnage of 709,829 compared with 766,299 in 1934. There were 434 deepsea ships in port against 453 the preceding year.

Exports of doors, laths, shingles, ties and box shooks increased, but total lumber exports were 202,252,781 feet compared with 218,985,092 feet in 1934. Bar metal shipments totaled 210,020 tons as against 219,494 tons the previous year.

The monthly report for December shows an export cargo tonnage of 63,134 against 54,654 tons in the corresponding month of 1934. Forty ships entered the harbor during the month, an increase of four over December, 1934.

NEW SHIP MAY HONOR CANADA

Fruit Express Line's New Vessel May Be Named Canada Express

Seattle, Jan. 9.—Capt. P. Sverre Selbach, owners' Pacific Coast representative of Fruit Express Line with headquarters in Seattle, who is a master mariner of long experience in the sea lanes as well as a shoreside executive, to-day told of the new ship which will join the trio of beautiful white yachtlike vessels of the service now plying between this range and the United Kingdom and Continent.

"She'll be larger and faster than the Washington Express, Oregon Express and California Express, now operating in the trade," said Captain Selbach, who knows ships as well as cargo movement, overseas tariffs and fluctuations in the world markets.

"The new vessel will have refrigerator space for 100,000 boxes of fruit, while the three ships now in the trade carry 85,000 boxes. She'll be 380 feet long, 50-foot beam and 25.6 feet in depth, compared to 351 feet long, 47-foot beam and 21.9 feet in depth, the measurements of vessels of the present fleet.

WILL BE FASTER

"And as to speed, she'll be at least a knot faster than the Washington Express, Oregon Express and California Express. There will be accommodations for twelve passengers in rooms with bath.

"The new ship will be different in another way," continued Captain Selbach. "She will have the Maier bow, which is the distinguishing feature of some of the North German Lloyd carriers plying to this coast. Several names for the vessel, including Canada Express, have been suggested."

Captain Selbach said that work on the new "reefer" would be started this month in the Gotaverken Shipyards in Sweden, and that she would be delivered in October. The vessel will arrive in Seattle about November 15, giving the Fruit Express Line a quartette of fast modern refrigerator ships for operation between this coast and the United Kingdom and the continent.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

WANT FLOAT FROM HAWAII

Dr. C. E. Brous and D. H. Smith of Portland Sail To-day on Empress of Russia

Off to the Hawaiian Islands where they will endeavor to persuade Honolulu to enter a flower float in the annual Portland rose parade in the summer, two prominent Portland residents are in Victoria to-day preparatory to sailing late this afternoon aboard the Ss. Empress of Russia.

They are Dr. C. E. Brous and David H. Smith, both of whom are accompanied by their wives. They arrived here this afternoon by the Ss. Princess Charlotte. Mr. Smith, who is circulation manager of The Oregon Journal and vice-president of the International Circulating Managers' Association, was met in Victoria by Albert Jones, circulating manager of The Times and taken for a trip about the city before being driven to the outer docks.

HIGH OFFICIALS

Dr. Brous and Mr. Smith are high officials of the Royal Rosarians of Portland, the former being prime minister and the latter lord high chancellor. Active membership in this non-commercial organization is limited to 200 professional and business men. Objects of the body are to promote the festival, encourage the growing and development of better roses, and promote the best interests of Portland. Management of the Rosarian Order is vested in a privy council of eleven members and the dukes of the realm—the latter being past heads of the order. Mr. Smith is in line for election as prime minister of the 1937 festival. The organization is twenty-four years old and has attracted much attention to Portland.

Several Canadians are members of the order, the visitors recalled to-day. In June, 1934, they were knighted when they attended the Rose Festival. Mayor Leeming of Victoria was among them, as were Louis Taylor, then mayor of Vancouver; Capt. R. A. Nicholson of Victoria, Capt. Thomas M. Bartlett, Col. Herbert Walter Cooper and Aldermen J. D. Hunter and Percy Brown of Victoria.

In Honolulu the two Portland men will not only represent the Royal Rosarians, but also the Portland Rose Festival Association, and the Portland Chamber of Commerce in presenting their official invitation.

TO VISIT LEPERS

Dr. Brous expects to spend some time visiting the Hawaiian leper colony on the island of Molokai, as he is deeply interested in this phase of medical science.

Mr. Smith will call on members of the Circulation Managers' Association, and hopes to renew acquaintance with two young men who formerly carried papers for The Journal, James B. Mann, civil engineer, and G. F. Garner, circulating manager of The Honolulu Advertiser.

Dr. Brous and Mr. Smith are also active members of the Al Kader Temple of the Mystic Shrine, and while in Hololulu will visit the Shrine Temple there.

The Portland party will have about ten days in the islands. They expect to take passage on the Ss. Empress of Japan January 28, arriving in Victoria February 1.

NEW SHIP IS NOW IN PORT

Harpagon on Maiden Voyage; Ms. Damsterdyk Due From Europe To-morrow

The freighter Harpagon, now loading lumber at Ogden Point, is a brand new ship, having been launched in England last summer. She is now on her maiden voyage to the Pacific northwest.

She docked here late yesterday evening and will proceed to-morrow to Vancouver. While at this port she is loading 750,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber for the United Kingdom.

The Ss. Troutpool, after receiving repairs to her steering gear at this port, is expected to get away late this afternoon for Port Alberni to complete for England.

Before coming here this voyage, the Dutch motorship Damsterdyk of the Holland-American Line will call at Seattle, A. P. Moffat, local agent was advised this morning. The ship sailed from San Francisco Tuesday evening and is expected to arrive here early to-morrow evening. She is bringing 250 tons of general cargo, including 1,500 boxes of fruit from California, for discharge at this port. From here she will go to Vancouver.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—The British freighter Grainton is in port loading wheat for the United Kingdom, under charter to British-Canadian Steamships Ltd. Ss. Riverton is also under charter to this company and will arrive on February 5 to load wheat for the United Kingdom.

Ss. Mabriton is due here January 15 and will sail on January 22 for the United Kingdom. Ss. City of Vancouver is due January 25 and will sail for Australia on February 10. Ss. Red Sea will arrive February 5 and will sail for Australia a week later and Ss. Koranton is due February 5 and will leave on February 12 for Australia.

Captain H. Hansen, master of Norwegian Ms. Segundo, is making his first visit to British Columbia, though not to the Coast. Weather and business have kept him aboard the ship every minute she has been in British Columbia waters.

The vessel arrived at Race Rocks December 24, and has been loading at British Columbia ports for South Africa, being a charter taken as an extra ship for the Silver-Java-Pacific service of Dingwall, Cotts and Co. She is loading lumber at Ballantyne Pier.

Two members of her crew went to hospital here for treatment, one for an infected finger and the other for a burned arm.

Two ships have been chartered by the British Columbia Shipping Agencies for February loading to the Antipodes, it was announced here to-day. They are the Ss. Trelissisk and Ss. Anglo-Canadian, both scheduled to arrive here on February 9 to load with lumber and general cargo.

Melrose Will Run Air Taxi

Adelaide, Jan. 9.—Australians will soon be able to hail an air-taxi for a trip "from Adelaide to anywhere," James Melrose, crack Australian flier, announced to-day.

Melrose, who recently abandoned a speed flight from England to Australia to participate in a search for Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, said he would direct the air-taxi enterprise.

No More Piles

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief — they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medicine succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, eases the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

So if you have failed to get the relief you want from your sore, painful piles, and would like to give HEM-ROID a trial, you have our promise to return your money, if just one bottle of this prescription does not give pleasing results. Any druggist can supply you with the genuine HEM-ROID.

WILLINGDON AT CINQUE PORTS

He May Be Appointed When Term as Viceroy of India Ends

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 9.—The Earl of Willingdon, former Governor-General of Canada, whose term as Viceroy of India will expire this year, will probably be appointed to the ancient office of Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports and Governor of Dover Castle, it was reported to-day.

The Duke of Kent, fourth son of the King and Queen, has also been mentioned for the office, vacant since the death last month of Lord Reading.

The holder is entitled to use both Dover and Walmer castles as residences, but since the term of the late Lord Curzon they have never been used as such.

The Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports ranks as an admiral, has his own flag and enjoys an income of about $15,000 a year.

He also has what is nowadays a much less substantial perquisite in being entitled to all the flotsam and jetsam thrown up along the coast of his domain.

The Cinque Ports are Hastings, Romney, Hythe, Dover and Sandwich, to which Winchelsea and Rye have been added in recent times. In Napoleonic days, these were key positions in the defence of England, but at present the Lord Warden has little to do except make occasional ceremonial appearances and take the chair of the Dover Harbor Board.
